Hoffa Parole 'Plot'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Justice Department said today several "intermediaries" attempted to solicit up to $1 million from imprisoned Teamster president Jimmy Hoffa in a "far fetched" scheme to secure support from an influential senator to get him paroled.

The department said Hoffa, who is due for a parole hearing Wednesday, turned down the offer.

A Department spokesman said the deal offered to Hoffa was that for a large sum of money, a man allegedly close to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., would attempt to influence the senator to intercede in Hoffa's behalf before the federal parole board.

The spokesman said the plan "died of its own weight" and McClellan was never contacted.

McClellan said he never was approached by anyone with such a scheme, and was opposed to Hoffa's release in any case.

McClellan is chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, which conducted intensive hearings in the 1950s into operations of the Teamsters and Hoffa in particular.

The Justice Department gave its version of the alleged scheme following first disclosure of the matter in the New York Times.

The FBI originally learned of the scheme through an informant, the Justice Department said. The spokesman did not say whether the informant was inside the prison.

The spokesman said the FBI kept the Justice Department informed of the progress of the negotiations, and that no arrests or prosecution of those involved was contemplated "because apparently no law was broken."

The spokesman refused to name the intermediaries involved, but said "we know who they are."

At least three men were said to have been involved—a man who was reported to have contacted Hoffa in prison, a "middle man" and a man who knew McClellan and was supposed to be the contact man with him.

However, the plan never reached the stage where McClellan would have been contacted, the government's account said.

The Justice spokesman said that although he was unable to say for sure, it appeared the men involved were simply out to make a quick profit.

"You know," he said, "somebody thinks he's got something on somebody and they think, 'we can take advantage of this.' He did not elaborate.

The spokesman said the plan was "a rather bizarre scheme and pretty far-fetched."

Hoffa was imprisoned at Lewisburg March 7, 1967. He first denied parole on Oct. 2, 1969.

DOCTOR'S PLEA

'Heart-Broken' Appeal For Child Abuse Law

By MARY LEYDECKER

A Marin pediatrician, who has been fighting in behalf of "the battered child" for years, is strongly endorsing a bill now under consideration in the State Assembly.

Dr. Patricia Hallinan, former assistant county health officer who is now a pediatrician with the retarded children's program of the county's Community Mental Health Services Department, said enthusiastically that the bill introduced by Leo Ryan, D-San Francisco, is "perfect."

"The only ones that can help are lawyers and physicians," Dr. Hallinan said, referring to protecting small children who are beaten by their parents or other adults.

"And they don't," she added, speaking of the present situation.

Ryan's bill would set up a juvenile court procedure whereby an abused child could be made a ward of the court. In addition, the bill would make it a misdemeanor to fail to report to authorities a child-beating instance.

Even more important, Dr. Hallinan believes, is a provision in the bill that would set up a committee of a physician, a probation officer and a lawyer in each county to investigate reports of child abuse and then advise the juvenile court.

For years, Dr. Hallinan, herself the mother of five sons, has been seeing battered children, first as director of the county's crippled children's service and now in her work with little retarded ones.

She has been "heartbroken" time after time when children have been returned to their homes only to be the victim of another so-called accident.

"A fall from a crib" is a common answer by parents as to how their child received a serious injury, Dr. Hallinan said.

"Or they say he rolled off the bed," she added.

"Any mother knows that a child doesn't get a skull fracture from falling out a crib or rolling off a bed," Dr. Hallinan said firmly.

Having treated 110 battered children in the past six years, 30 of whom were severely crippled, Dr. Hallinan said there is usually a pattern to the abuse.

"A series of injuries starts—usually right after the child is born," she said.

The "accidents" are most common in babies under 3 years old — "they can't tell anyone about it," Dr. Hallinan added.

Child beating cuts across social, racial and economic lines, the physician said, although "poor people's children are the ones we see at public agencies."

She explained that more affluent parents take their children to private doctors.

All the time she was talking in her small office in Kentfield, Dr. Hallinan kept selecting gruesome pictures from a file.

One was of a 5-month-old baby who died in a small, cold tent at a camping site on Mount Tamalpais last year. The little body, photographed on a morgue table, was horribly bruised and had seven broken ribs, according to Dr. Hallinan.

ter was acquitted of child abuse when his 17-year-old wife admitted kicking the infant and putting her hand over the child's face.)

The pattern of repeated abuse is common, according to Dr. Hallinan, and could be stopped by having a simple card catalogue at hospitals in which injuries to children under three years old would be recorded.

This would help prevent sad cases like the child, now about two years and a ward of the court, who is blind and probably mentally retarded from repeated head injuries incurred from beatings.

"The courts now will not accept 'suspicious' as valid proof," Dr. Hallinan said, "but doctors have to rely on suspicions."

Giving an example, she said, "If a man comes to me and says 'I just ate a big dinner and I have this pain in my chest running into my arm,' I would be very remiss if I didn't order

Rumors Of Red Offer

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH

VIENNA (UPI)—The Soviet Union is considering proposing that Russia and the United States sign a nonaggression pact, Communist sources said today.

In Moscow's thinking, negotiations for such a pact would take priority over the current Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), although SALT would continue to meet, the sources said. The Kremlin's increased interest in nonaggression talks stems from its growing reluctance to sign a SALT agreement with America, they said.

The pact would be along the lines of the agreement recently signed by the Soviets and West Germany, which obligated both to forego the use of force in relations with each other, they said.

The sources said a final decision has not been taken yet to approach the United States with the proposal. But they said it is being considered because it would help stabilize Soviet-American relations, without affecting Russia's ability to respond to the Chinese threat.

They said Soviet fears of an attack from Communist China, and worries about Peking's growing nuclear power, are making Moscow increasingly reluctant to sign any SALT agreement with the United States. China would not be a party to such an agreement, they said, and Soviet military men fear that any cutback in arms caused by an agreement with the United States would leave Russia vulnerable to a Chinese attack.

A nonaggression treaty, on the other hand, would not affect Russia's rivalry with China, they said. But, they added, it would provide a basis of trust for future arms negotiations with the United States—including SALT.

SALT, now in its fourth round here, has appeared to slow down. Russia so far has not replied to a U.S. proposal for a "comprehensive" agreement on both offensive and defensive nuclear delivery systems. But in the last round of talks in Helsinki, the Soviets suggested limits on antiballistic missile (ABM) defenses.

President Nixon has publicly rejected an agreement on defensive weapons only, insisting instead on a "mix." Communist sources here have said that such a "mix" is possible — but only at the "token" level, because of Soviet fears that anything "comprehensive" would leave Russia relatively defenseless.

In Washington, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., recommended today U.S. acceptance of the Soviet proposal to limit antiballistic missile (ABM) systems. But Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., proposed that the United States call for a one-year freeze on both defensive and offensive nuclear weapons.

The Senate's two leading national security experts, in separate speeches, clashed over the fundamental position the United States should take in the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) with the Soviet Union in Vienna.

Symington, in a speech prepared for an appearance at George Lehman College in New York, said he could not understand why U. S. negotiators had refused to accept a first-step limitation on the ABM only.

He said such an agreement "could slow down, perhaps stop, this dangerous offensive."

GIs Die In Ambush, Lax Security Seen

Surprise Raid Catches Yank Base Off Guard

SAIGON (UPI) — For the Americans at an American Division artillery base south of Da Nang the war was almost over. They were going home soon and security was lax. And then Communist sappers struck, driving them to their bunkers with a mortar barrage, then blowing up the bunkers.

When the attack was over, 33 Americans were dead and 76 wounded in one of the biggest single losses of the war, the biggest since a twin attack on two U.S. Marine outposts near the Demilitarized Zone in February, 1969, cost two units 36 dead and 97 wounded.

The Army pieced together today the story of the attack which came between 2 and 3 a.m. Sunday when the Communists took advantage of the dark of the moon and a low-lying ground fog to infiltrate the base 50 miles southwest of Da Nang and 26 miles southwest of Tam Ky.

Close to 800 men of the American Division's 196th Brigade were at the base when the Communists lobbed in between 50 and 60 rounds of 82 millimeter mortar round. The Americans dived for the bunkers, and Communist sappers waiting at the perimeter raced into the base.

The commandos hurled satchels filled with explosives and hand grenades into the crowded bunkers, where the only means of escape was a small opening.

Helicopter gunships, artillery and tactical air strikes by AC119 gunships, whose electronically-controlled miniguns each spit 6,000 rounds a minute, were over the base soon after to help the troopers fight off the Reds. The bodies of 12 Communists were found later.

Today, five giant C130 Hercules transport planes flew into a nearby Chu Lai to take out bodies and some of the wounded. One officer said some of the survivors were so badly wounded they were "living dead." Newsmen were barred from the scene by six jeeps of military police.

Reinforcements were sent in, spokesmen said, but there had been no reports of any contacts since Sunday's attack.

"I think security must have been pretty bad because some of the guys thought they were going home soon and the war was almost over for them," said one officer. "For some of them the war is over."

The Army pieced together details of the attack after other military sources told of an abortive South Vietnamese strike into Laos.

The sources said 40 U.S. helicopters were loaded with a South Vietnamese Black Panther commando group for a strike 20 miles inside Laos but that the strike was halted when fighter-bombers sent in to bomb the Communist positions ran into extremely heavy ground fire. B52s had hit the area earlier.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said on Friday the Laotian operation "continues" but did not say what further action was planned. Military sources disclosed today that the elite Hac Bao (Black Panther) troops of the 1st South Vietnamese Infantry Division had boarded helicopters for the planned strike when it was aborted.

The sources said the 40 UH1 Huey helicopters with the 300 Hac Bao quick reaction force aboard were halted at Fire Support Base Vandergrift in Quang Tri province.

Capt. Doan Co, commander of the Hac Bao unit, told a UPI correspondent the raid had been planned to last three days and that the operation originated at the "highest levels" of the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments in hopes of capturing high-ranking Communist officers.

Report of the abortive mission came as 1,000 demonstrators converged on City Hall in Saigon Sunday to urge an invasion of North Vietnam. Informed U.S. sources said any thought about an attack into North Vietnam had ended with the abrupt conclusion of the Laos incursion.

The commander of combat police who took up positions to prevent a march to the National Assembly building said "Since the government has not yet made up its mind on the subject, we must defend against any such demonstration."

Ford Recalls All Pinto Production

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. announced today it was recalling its entire production of Pinto minicars for modification to prevent possible ignition of fuel vapors in the air cleaner.

A spokesman for the company said "a few" cars had been destroyed by fire in the engine compartment, but emphasized that there was no case where the flames had penetrated the passenger compartment.

A total of 204,000 of the 1971 model Pintos were involved, starting from original production last July until March 19, when modifications were made on all cars coming off the production line.

The spokesman said investigation of reported cases revealed that vapors in the air cleaner could be ignited by a backfire through the carburetor. Most cases occurred when cars were started after having been parked.

He explained that the new evaporation systems on all new cars provide a canister for storage of gases while the engine is stopped. These gases are sucked into the carburetor when the car is started. He said there were cases where backfires ignited these fumes and caused a sustained flame-up in the carburetor air cleaner.

The spokesman said that in most cases damage was confined to the air cleaner and electric wiring, and in some cases, scorch damage to the paint on the hood.

Harris Seeks Open Grand Jury Record

Prosecuting attorney Albert W. Harris Jr. today filed a motion in Marin Superior Court asking that grand jury testimony in the Angela Y. Davis-Ruchell Magee case still sealed under a court order be made public.

Harris had been stopped in arguments on March 16 after Magee's attorneys objected to his referring to testimony by Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas as well as bringing into court guns used in the Aug. 7 shoot-out.

Some of the testimony has been quoted in written arguments by Miss Davis's attorney as well as in written response by Harris in connection with motions that the case against Miss Davis be dismissed.

Harris asked that his request on the sealing be heard Thursday, but no date has been set yet.

The hearing on the motions concerning Miss Davis came to an abrupt halt on March 17 when Magee disqualified Judge McMurray, a retired Inyo County Jurist who did not fight the charge that he was prejudiced.

Another judge, Alan A. Lindsay, 54-year-old Alameda County superior court judge, has been assigned to the case by the California Judicial Council and has been reviewing files of the case.

No date has been set yet for another court appearance for Miss Davis and Magee.

Nixon Gets Building Wage Pact

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —President Nixon met with Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson today to complete plans for establishing a nationwide stabilization network to halt soaring construction costs.

Hodgson flew here from Washington with the plan he worked out with leaders of the building unions and representatives of contractors. It would set guidelines for reasonable wage increases and establish a network of self-regulating review boards throughout the country.

Sitting in on the meeting was John Ehrlichman, the president's main adviser on domestic affairs.

In return for voluntary cooperation from labor and contractors, Nixon is expected to reinstate the Davis-Bacon

'Calley Guilty' In My Lai Massacre

BULLETIN

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Lt. William L. Calley was found guilty today of premeditated murder in the My Lai massacre.

Calley arrived at the courtroom at 3:48 p.m. red-faced and out of breath to hear the verdict.

While striding down the hallway toward the red, white and blue courtroom where he will hear the verdict, Calley was asked how he felt now. "The same," he replied. (See related story, page 9.)

The jury passed a sealed Manila envelope from its deliberation room at 3:28 p.m. Moments later, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge, was called into his chambers to see what the message was.

At 3:32 p.m., an aide to the judge called newsmen together in a press room courthouse building and announced the verdict had been reached.

The jury's announcement came after 79 hours and 58 minutes of deliberation in the longest court-martial in U.S. military history.

Calley was summoned to the courtroom to hear the verdict. Kennedy had said earlier in the day he would "take some definite" but discreet step to prod the jury Tuesday afternoon if a verdict hasn't been rendered by then.

Prosecutors and the defense bickered over whether it would be proper for Kennedy to ask the six-man panel what was holding it up.

The prosecutor, Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, argued that any intervention on the part of Kennedy could raise the issue of judicial error and perhaps serve as grounds for appeal.

But defense attorney George W. Latimer said he could see nothing wrong with Kennedy questioning the jury.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Clark's View
CHICAGO (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark has lashed out at the principle of preventive detention of dissenters such as the Rev. Philip Berrigan and Angela Davis.
Clark, the defense attorney for the Harrisburg Six including Father Berrigan, addressed a rally of the Alliance to End Repression Saturday. The organization is a coalition of 27 Chicago groups formed a year ago to try to improve the judicial system on the local and national scale.
"Do we really think that you can find safety through preventive detention?" Clark asked a capacity audience at St. James Episcopal Cathedral.
"The hypocrisy of it—we say we believe someone until he's proven guilty, but, just in case, we'll keep you in jail for a while," Clark said.

Kennedy Leads
MARIETTA, Ohio (UPI) — George Gallup Jr. said Sunday night his latest public opinion poll shows Sen. Edward M. Kennedy leading for the Democratic nomination for president in 1972.
Gallup, who participated in a symposium on public opinion at Marietta College, said 46 per cent of the Democrats queried chose Kennedy to 43 per cent for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine. Kennedy was picked by 47 per cent when matched against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who received 42 per cent support.
"The latest findings on the Democratic candidacy is that Senator Muskie of Maine is winning support from Democratic leaders, but not correspondingly from registered Democrats," Gallup said.

Severs Ties
TAIPEI (UPI) — Nationalist China severed diplomatic relations with the Persian Gulf state of Kuwait today because it had recognized Communist China.
The Taiwan government issued a statement announcing it was closing its embassy in the tiny, oil-producing country and calling the recognition of Peking "a most unfriendly act."
(Communist China announced today, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, that it had established diplomatic relations with Kuwait a week ago at the same time that Kuwait granted recognition to the mainland government.)

Rebel Assassinated
BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Jaime Arenas, a former leader of the rebel National Liberation Army, was shot and killed Sunday by unidentified gunmen while walking in the streets of Bogota.

Ask Delay
NEW YORK (UPI) — The British and French firms that plan to make the Concorde supersonic airliner have asked Pan American World Airways, which already has paid deposits on orders for eight of the planes, to extend Wednesday's deadline for final design plans by six months.
There were reports in aviation circles that the congressional veto of further funding of American plans for an SST designed by the Boeing Co. might make Pan Am cautious about more delays in development in the European plane.
A spokesman for airline, confirming the request for extension of the March 31 deadline, said Pan Am has "not as yet replied, pending further discussions with the Concorde people, presumably within the next week."

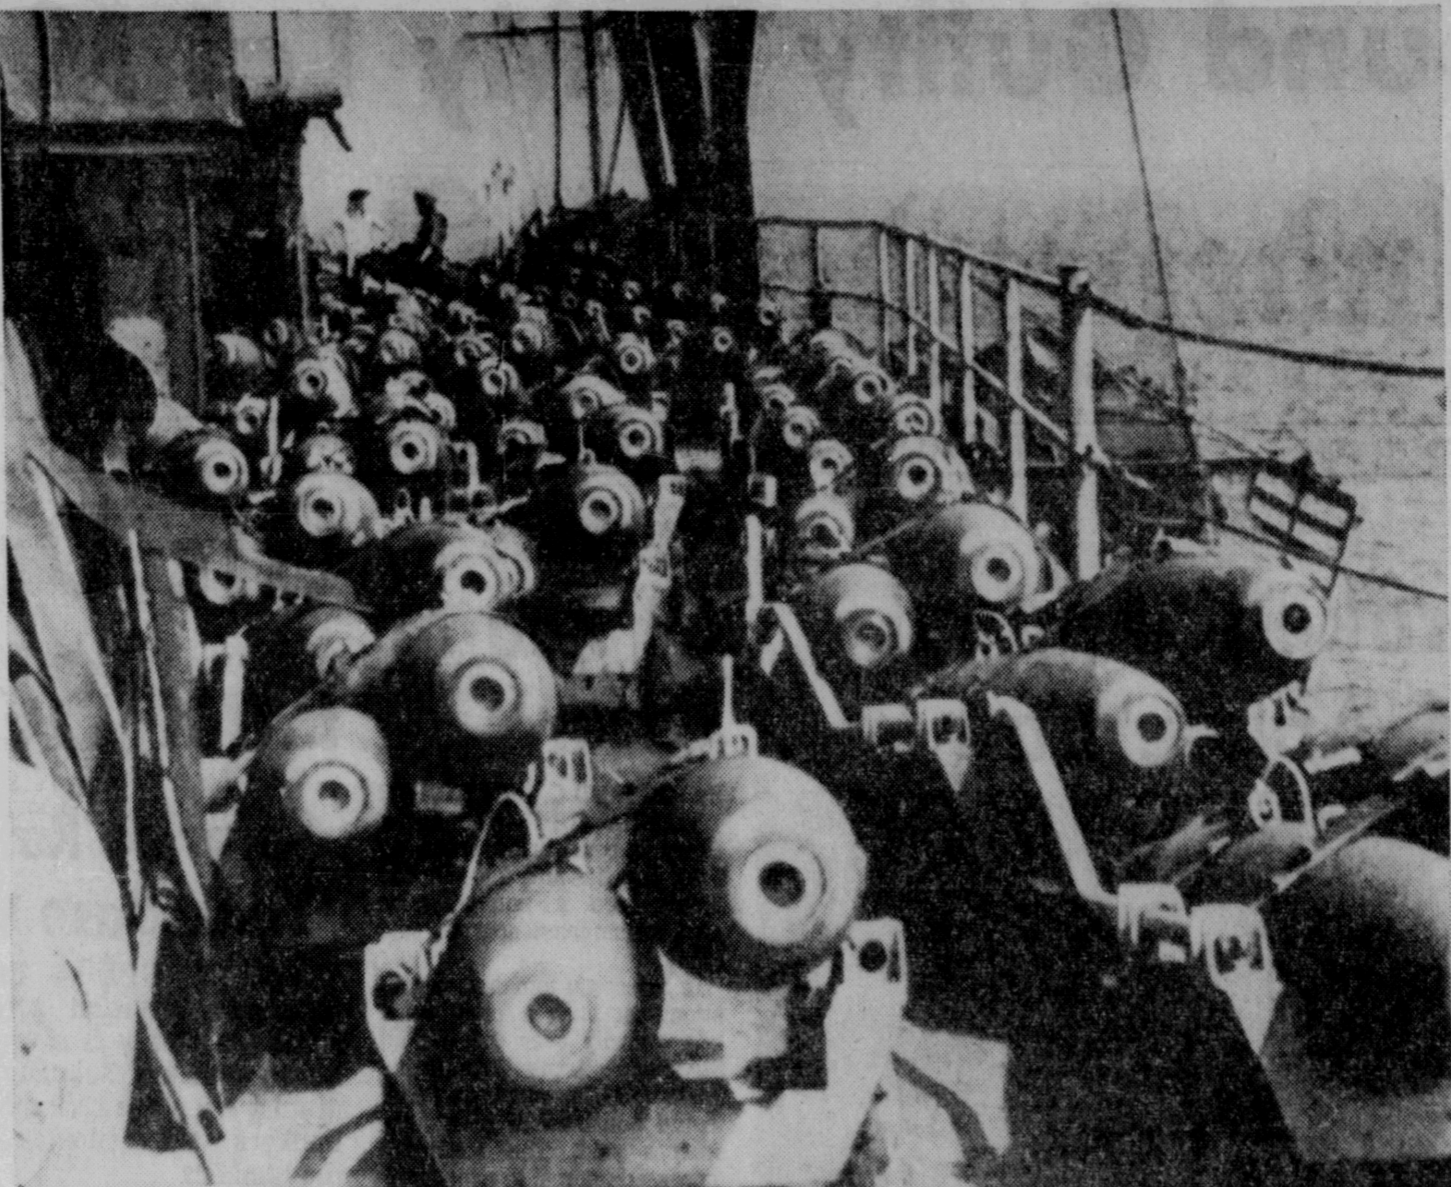

Two Stabbings
SOLEDA (UPI) — Soledad State Prison authorities restricted 1,007 convicts to their cell Sunday because of two more stabbings.
The racially-racked prison has been the site of the death of three white guards, four Negro convicts and two white prisoners within a year.
Willie A. Colbert, 22, and Ira King Jr., 23, both Negroes, are the latest stabbing victims. King, convicted in Los Angeles of robbery, was seriously wounded in the chest. Colbert, also convicted in Los Angeles of robbery, was treated and released.
Both were stabbed when the lights went out Saturday night for a motion picture show attended by 200 prisoners.

Newsweek Banned
SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government said today it had banned the street sale of the March 29 editions of the U.S. news magazines, Time and Newsweek, "because of articles which undermine the fighting spirit of our troops."

A government spokesman said "I can confirm the ban because of articles concerning our moves in Laos and it's harmful to the fighting spirit of our troops."
Asked by newsmen if the articles were incorrect, the spokesman replied "I have no comment."
He said "Under general terms, the articles were considered wrong. They undermined the fighting spirit of our troops."

The articles, written by members of the Saigon staffs of the news magazines, concerned the heavy casualties suffered by the Vietnamese in the recent Laotian incursion and criticism of South Vietnamese helicopter pilots and maintenance crews.

District Goals On Agenda
The Fairfax School District board is expected to adopt district goals and objectives as required by state legislation at its 7:45 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the district offices at 58 Park Road.
The proposed goals, which have been revised several times in the last year, have been compiled by a group of parents, teachers, board members and administrators.
The board also will hear a proposal from the County Park and Recreation Commission about development of land near Deer Park school.

GULF OF TONKIN STRIKE FORCE

Aboard the U.S.S. Hancock in the Gulf of Tonkin off Vietnam, scores of bombs were lined up yesterday ready to be loaded onto fighter-bombers for attack and support missions in South Vietnam and Laos. The aircraft carriers Hancock and the Kitty Hawk are sending their 150 jets on bombing runs 24 hours a day.

Black Separatists Say Land In Mississippi Is New Capital

BOLTON, Miss. (UPI) — Armed sentries patrolled 20 acres of pasture in western Mississippi Sunday while 150 members of a black separatist group established what they said was the capital of the Republic of New Africa.

State troopers and sheriff's deputies watched the group move onto the land located in Hinds County between Jackson and Vicksburg, but made no attempt to interfere.

"Our whole plan is to establish our own nation. The U.S. government can continue to exist," said Amari Obadele of New Orleans, the group's leader. He said the group was non-violent and operates within the laws of the United States.

The rolling land was reported to have been purchased or lease from Loftin Mason, a Negro.

Another spokesman for the group, Chokwa Lumumba, said the capital probably would be named El Malik for the late Malcolm X, the patriarch of the new "republic." Lumumba said a school, a hospital and an executive office building would be constructed on the property.

The group gathered at an abandoned school building in the Mount Beulah community Sunday, then traveled in a caravan of 18 cars and a bus to their property six miles north of Bolton.

Flying Hypnotist Fails In Bid For Flight Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hypnotist Alexander Kurtz landed at San Francisco International Airport Sunday, tired, $1,300 poorer and first runner-up for an around-the-world commercial flight record.

Kurtz flew out of the same airport on Friday in hopes of beating the record of 41 hours and 30 minutes set in January by Maurice Rosen of Millbrae, Calif.

But Kurtz' trip to London, Tokyo and back to Northern California lasted 43 hours and 31 minutes, good only for second place.

Kurtz, who leads the Alexander School of Hypnosis, said he made the trip to dramatize his vision of the world as a "global village."

Jordan Troops Kill Two Women

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL
Jordanian troops killed two women in Amman Sunday when they fired on a crowd of several hundred women and school girls they said were being used as a "human barricade" by Arab guerrillas trying to attack police positions.

Three other civilians were wounded in the incident, which touched off a day of violence in the Jordanian capital.

Guerrillas denied they were involved and said the crowd was demonstrating against three days of fighting between government troops and guerrillas in north Jordan.

Libyan Premier Col. Moammar Khadafy said Sunday in a speech monitored in Beirut that the Jordanian army should overthrow King Hussein and form a "liberation front" with the guerrillas. He said Libya would be ready to support such a movement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Sunday in a speech at Khartoum, Sudan, that Egypt had done all it could to achieve peace with Israel in the past month.

"But all our efforts have been obstructed by Israeli arrogance and intransigence and the coming days will be decisive in the battle of destiny," Sadat said.

In Jerusalem, official sources said Premier Golda Meir briefed the Israeli cabinet Sunday on latest contacts with the United States, but details of her report were not revealed.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said an army patrol killed three guerrillas and captured three others Sunday in a clash on occupied territory in the Jordan Valley. He said there were no Israeli casualties.

The spokesman said Israel and Egypt made a prisoner of war exchange Sunday at Ismailiya on the Suez Canal. He said Israel returned an Egyptian officer captured last May 30 in exchange for an Israeli sergeant held in Egypt since January, 1970.

Tito Hails Pontiff In Vatican Visit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia, the first Communist chief of state to pay an official visit to the Vatican, hailed Pope Paul VI today as an ally in the fight against colonialism.

Tito told the pontiff how much he appreciated his efforts for world peace and added he also was fully aware "of the support which your holiness gives to people under colonial domination in their just fight for independence and the end of all forms of racial discrimination."

The Pope in turn called for collaboration between the Vatican and Yugoslavia in the search for international peace. Unlike the Pope, Tito confined his speech to international affairs and made no mention of internal church-state relations.

Tito expressed strong concern about the Middle East situation and said Yugoslavia was doing its utmost "to contribute, within the limits of its possibilities, to the peaceful solution of that crisis so that the consequences of the war of aggression of June, 1967, can be eliminated and so that the people of countries of that region can live in peace and security."

Power Cut Out In Three Areas

Woodacre and parts of Fairfax and San Anselmo lost power for more than half an hour yesterday when a 12,000 volt cable in Fairfax failed.

Harry P. Kiemle, general foreman of the electrical department at Pacific Gas and Electric Company, said the power went off at 9:46 a.m. and was restored at 10:21 a.m.

Checking Vision, Hearing, Speech

An ambitious program, the first of its kind in the state, will be launched in Marin Saturday in an attempt to check thousands of preschool children for vision, hearing and speech defects.

Called "Project SEE" (speech, eyes and ears), the project is being sponsored by the Marin Hearing and Speech Center, with the help of the county schools office and the Northern California Society for Prevention of Blindness.

The Marin County Medical Society has also lent its blessing.

For five months, free screening will be provided for children 3 to 5 years old at locations throughout the county, according to Ruth Connelly, executive director of the speech and hearing center.

A SEE team composed of an audiologist and speech pathologist from the hearing and speech center and trained volunteers from the blindness prevention society will open the survey in parking lot 6 of Marin General Hospital from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on April 3.

They will test children from the Kentfield and Corte Madera areas, using a bus which belongs to the county schools department.

The team will return to the hospital parking lot April 5 and 8 at the same hours.

The bus will move on throughout the county for the next five months, testing on Monday and Thursday mornings at locations to be announced, according to Mrs. Connelly.

Mrs. Connelly said that the "early discovery campaign" is aimed at locating children with hearing losses, vision problems and speech handicaps which can be treated and possibly corrected during a child's formative years.

"Too often, years of a child's prize learning time slip by before the family or doctor realizes that something could and should be done," Mrs. Connelly said.

"More over early discovery and treatment of the learning prerequisites of vision, hearing and speech often forestall emotional frustration and academic retardation," she added.

Costly special education programs later can be avoided through early treatment, too, she said.

One eye condition, amblyopia, or "lazy eye," can lead to the complete loss of vision in one eye if not treated, Mrs. Connelly said, and almost all amblyopia is curable if detected in the 3-to-5-year age period.

Project SEE is being financed by the Marin Charitable Foundation and the March of Dimes and volunteers will include Lions Club members, Soroptimists, Delta Gamma Sorority members, student nurses from the College of Marin, and retired nurses and teachers.

The simple tests to be given children will take about 10 minutes, according to Mrs. Connelly.

NOT SO BAD — Robert Hambrecht of Belvedere discovers that it's really fun to have his hearing tested by audiologist Janet Nelson in a big testing bus. An ambitious program to check preschool children throughout Marin County for hearing, speech and vision defects will open Saturday.

Problems List To Substitute For A Speaker

Discussion on a long list of problems will supplant listening to a guest speaker, at the March meeting of the Council of Mayors and Councilmen Wednesday at the Lagunitas Country Club in Ross.

Ron Bartels, secretary for the council, said member cities had requested consideration of such issues as the requirements that local government draft new civil defense and disaster plans, noise abatement, aerial advertising, the Coast Guard hovercraft operating in the Belvedere area, countywide crime-fighting plans, and the weekly burglary reports in the Independent-Journal.

Ross will be host city for the session, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Marin's Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Sen. Peter Behr spoke at the January and February meetings of the council.

The early-morning fire killed 4-year-old Mark Whisler and injured Louis P. Whisler and Amy Whisler, 1. The family was asleep in the store after taking inventory when the fire broke out.

Dramatic Rescue Of Girl Stuck In Stack

A 10-year-old Tiburon girl found out Saturday night that playing Santa Claus was no fun, after spending about three and a half hours stuck in a chimney.

Sally Raisin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Raisin Jr., of 577 Silverado Drive, Tiburon, came out of her ordeal with minor scrapes and bruises — and a lot of soot, said Lt. John T. Grbac of the Tiburon Fire Department.

Sally left home about 6:45 p.m. to return some silverware to the home of Albert Sennett of 26 Sutter Court, Tiburon. When she found no one home, she went onto the roof where she and other children had been playing earlier in the day, Grbac said.

She sat on the edge of the chimney when down she went, feet first. Whether it was on purpose or accident, Grbac was not sure.

There matters rested for some three hours, because her mother telephoned the Sennett residence, then drove by and seeing no one home, thought that Sally had gone with the Sennetts.

At 10:14 the Sennetts returned home and heard Sally calling for help. Not seeing her in the yard they opened the house where they opened the chimney, wedged in the damper about 10 feet from the top.

Tiburon police and firemen were called. At first they could not get her out, so tried to chip out some bricks. This hurt the tightly wedged girl.

Firemen finally rigged up a sling with which they could lift her with her arms sticking straight up.

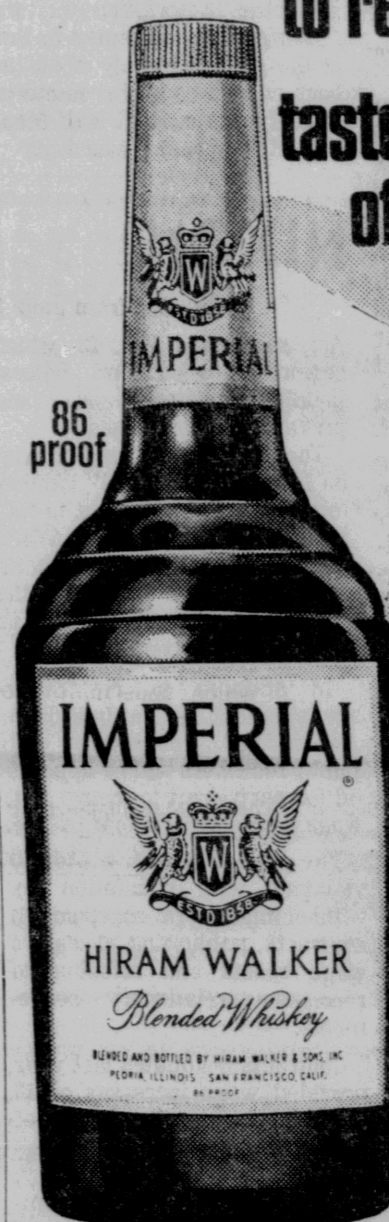

When firemen got the soot-covered girl out onto the roof, they gave her oxygen and some water.

"What's for dinner?" Sally asked.

Woman, 19, Arrested In Child Beating

A 19-year-old Fairfax woman arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony child beating and providing an unfit home was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fairfax police said they arrested Celeste Louise Preis of 15 Mono Avenue at her home about 5:30 p.m. after receiving complaints that her 18-month-old son, Charles James Armijo, was being mistreated.

Police said they found bruises on the child's body and a scar on his back. Witnesses, according to police, said the child often had been kicked and left in cold tubs for long periods.

Miss Preis was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $12,500 bail.

a cardiac examination for him."

"She said that if a child was treated two or three times for injuries, an investigation of whether he was being abused could be made.

"You also have to watch crib deaths," Dr. Hallinan added. She suggested suffocation and pneumonia can produce similar results and that a check should be made to determine which has occurred.

Although little children take the worst abuse, Dr. Hallinan cited many instances of older Marin children who suffer terrible beatings, such as a 5-year-old who finally admitted that his scars were due to his father hitting him with a baseball bat.

Another was a teen-age girl whose body was covered with welts caused by repeated belt whippings given by her father.

"The only cooperation I've ever had has been from police — they've been wonderful — and Jack Blaine," Dr. Hallinan said. (Blaine is a juvenile court referee.)

Otherwise, her efforts on behalf of abused children have often come to naught, she said. Many times she has not been notified of court hearings and cases were dismissed "for lack of evidence," Dr. Hallinan said.

"Efforts are too fragmented now," said Dr. Hallinan, brother of attorney Vincent Hallinan.

Although child beating occurs at all levels of society, according to Dr. Hallinan, she offered one cheerful note. "Blacks beat their children the least — and almost never severely," she said.

Until now, "everyone has been concerned with the civil rights of the parents. My God! It's time we thought about the civil rights of the battered child," the energetic doctor said.

Obscenity Law To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review the constitutionality of the California Obscenity Law which prohibits mailing obscene material.

The court will schedule arguments in the case of Marvin Miller sometime next fall and hand down a written opinion.

Miller was convicted in Costa Mesa Municipal Court for mailing five advertising brochures for various books and a movie which were found to be obscene matter.

The Superior Court for Orange County affirmed the conviction Oct. 12, 1970, and denied his certification for an appeal Nov. 2, 1970. Miller then brought his appeal directly to the high court.

He argued that the pictures on the brochures he mailed were no more explicit than comparative material in books sold throughout the state in "reputable book stores."

Some of the pictures, in fact, were identical, he said.

Miller urged the Supreme Court to make clear that its "community standards" test of obscenity should be uniform nationwide.

Otherwise, he argued, individual states could stop the free flow of materials in interstate commerce.

been matched with that of a bullet-riddled body found on a rural road in Half Moon Bay.

Police said a suspect was being held for possible interrogation by Half Moon Bay authorities.

Patrolmen Andrew Stoepelwerth and Michael Ferrier arrested the suspect and another man at a motel early Sunday after a 17-year-old girl told the motel clerk she had been kidnapped and raped.

The officers said they found what they believed to be drugs, arrested the two men and booked them on charges of kidnapping, possession of guns, rape and possession of suspected narcotics.

The girl told the officers she and a friend had been kidnapped by the two men, armed with guns, while hitchhiking in Sacramento.

The girl said she and the other girl had been brought to the motel by the two men Saturday. At one point, she said, she was forced to sniff a white powder and take four capsules which made her sleepy. When she awoke, she said, one of the men had left with the other girl and later returned without her.

Half Moon Bay authorities said the description of the missing girl was similar to that of the girl, dead only about an hour, whose body was found on a lonely dirt road at Half Moon Bay at 9:15 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Preis was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $12,500 bail.

Act, suspended Feb. 23, which requires workers on federal building projects be paid prevailing union wages.

The suspension turned Nixon's former "hard hat" supporters against him and out on the street with protests. But White House aides view labor's apparent acquiescence to the proposed federal constraints as a victory for Nixon.

In addition to the labor-management review boards, a "watchdog" committee with public members will be appointed for each craft to insure that wage increases are kept in line.

The government threatened violators with retaliation by withholding federal construction contracts, publicizing excessive wage boosts and refusing to recognize inflationary settlements.

Contracts negotiated last year provided wage increases of 18 per cent in the first year of construction, a cause of spiraling inflation in the industry, according to federal economists.

Nixon has been keeping a low profile since his arrival at the western White House Friday evening. He drove unnoticed along the San Diego freeway Saturday during a heavy rush of traffic and spent Sunday quietly with his wife, Pat, at their Spanish-style seaside villa.

Here until next Sunday or Monday, Nixon also was in the making major review of the Indochina War to decide the pace of further U.S. troop withdrawals.

Reasons Behind Rental Repairs

No landlord has a duty to redecorate a tenant's apartment just for beauty's sake. But he must do so if the tenant's health and safety are at stake, or risk paying for any harm that results if he does not.

Take Tom Tenant's family: The paint and plaster of their apartment were peeling from the walls and ceiling. Lead poisoning in paint flakes harmed Tom's children. Tom told his landlord about it, but he did nothing. Tom then hired a painter and bought some paint and did the job himself. He deducted his costs from his rent and sued his landlord for his own labor.

In court he won. The landlord had notice of the health hazards and had wrongfully failed to do the needed work. The tenant could recover money for his labor. No tenant need wait for a landlord to act when irreparable harm may come to him or his family.

California law allows the tenant to do repair work where the premises are unfit after giving the landlord reasonable notice. He can spend up to one month's rent this way and deduct it from the rent due. However, the landlord and tenant may agree to other terms and in his lease the tenant may have waived his right to the protections of California law.

Courts review such waivers of rights carefully and may refuse to enforce them if they do not meet certain standards.

New hazards have imposed new duties on landlords. In one case robberies and muggings had plagued tenants in a housing complex, especially in entryways. They complained of these robberies to the landlord.

2 Arrested On Drug Charges

Two men were arrested today on drug charges after San Rafael police stopped their car on a routine traffic stop.

Fer Gonzalez, 25, 21 Spring Grove Avenue, San Anselmo was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of not having a drivers license, possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs.

Timothy John Blain, 20, 682 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possession of Marijuana and possession of peyote. They were held to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

They were arrested after police stopped their car just before 1 a.m. at Francisco Boulevard and Harbor Street. Gonzalez could not produce a driver's license or registration. He was searched and a plastic bag of green leafy material and some pills were found in his pockets. Blain was searched and green vegetable matter thought to be marijuana and another substance thought to be peyote were found in his possession.

Big Chase In Robbery: Pair Escape

Two men escaped on foot yesterday after an auto chase by San Rafael police at speeds up to 60 miles an hour in downtown San Rafael, following the burglary of a men's shop on Fourth Street.

Police chased the car at 3:15 a.m., on Looten's Place, Commercial Place, Fourth Street, Cijos Street and Third Street to Albert Field where the men abandoned the car which rolled backwards into the patrol car.

Police chased the two men on foot, but they got away.

Inside the car, police found $1,261 in clothing, including 17 leather jackets, taken from Schwartz Inc., 925 Fourth Street.

The car belonged to Charles John Balka, 737 Francisco Boulevard, Apt. 22, San Rafael. He told police that earlier in the evening he had loaned it to two women, one of whom he knew but only by the first name, Sylvia.

The burglars were described as black, in their early 20's, one of average height and build and the other thin, according to police.

Santa Rosan Hurt In Plane Crash

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI)—Roger Lin Dammarell, 22, Santa Rosa, Calif., remained in critical condition today with injuries suffered in a plane crash that took the life of the pilot.

Dammarell, a student at the University of Idaho, and David Ray Eaton, 23, Spenard, Alaska, were on a flight from Moscow, Idaho, to Sacramento Friday when the plane went down during a snowstorm in southern Oregon. Eaton, also a UI student, died of his injuries while on the way to a local hospital.

defensive merry go-round which we all know is adding an unprecedented heavy burden to the taxpayers of both countries."

But Jackson contended that any such proposal would expose land-based American missiles to a possible first-strike attempt by the Soviets to which the United States would be unable to respond adequately.

In a prepared Senate speech, Jackson said the clear implication of the Russian ABM-only proposal, he said, was that "they wish to inhibit our defenses while proceeding to increase the capability of their offensive force to strike — and perhaps destroy — our deterrent."

Symington said a freeze on ABMs would be acceptable even if it permitted the Soviets to leave intact their present ABM system guarding Moscow.

That system, Symington said, is acknowledged by the Pentagon as a worthless for deterring the U. S. retaliatory capability, so he said there was no reason the United States should insist it be dismantled.

Petaluman Arrested On pot Suspicion

Donald Wayne Kathriner, 21, of 720 Elm Drive, Petaluma, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Police said he was found sitting in his car at 2:40 a.m. at Casa Grande Road and Lakeview Highway, Petaluma. Officers said he had two marijuana cigarettes and 15 white tablets believed to be benzadrine in his possession. He was booked into city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Driver Injured As Brakes Lock

Richard Vorse, 29, of Oakland, was released from Community Hospital of Sonoma County yesterday after treatment of head cuts suffered in an accident Saturday at 8:25 p.m. on North McDowell Boulevard at Corona Road, Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his brakes locked at the intersection and the car skidded into a ditch.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Man's Ignorance Of Fire Rivalled Only By His Obvious Carelessness

Almost one-third of all fire victims are children. In many cases the youngster was unattended while the mother stepped out for a moment. The tragedy does not end here because the parents cannot forget the shocking sight of the burnt child and usually develop a deep sense of guilt. The feeling may or may not be justified but all too often it is justified. Man's ignorance concerning fire is rivalled only by the obvious carelessness which causes the accident. Much has been written about fires from electrical equipment and flammable fabrics. But most fire fatalities involve children who were alone in the home.

ALWAYS LEAVE a responsible teen-ager or adult in charge when there are young children. This plan helps but is not fool-proof, as anything can happen "when the head is turned." Some people are tempted to go out for a moment after the children are asleep. Don't do it, as this is usually when the unexpected happens. A fireplace is wonderful but be sure it is guarded with a screen. And never leave a young child alone in the room when it is in use.

Fire fascinates children. It is advisable to satisfy their curiosity by allowing them to use matches. Let the tyke light the fireplace, the candles on the table, or birthday cake. The more times he does this under supervision, the less likely it is to be a novelty.

MEANWHILE USE the practice sessions to discuss the dangers of a fire, how it can get out of hand, the need for putting out the match and more important, the need to put out the fire on leaving. But until he learns, keep matches in a metal container — out of sight and reach.

The home in which a parent smokes is most vulnerable. It means that matches or lighters are conveniently placed. Cigarette butts smolder and most important, the smoker may fall asleep on the bed or sofa with his last, and we do mean last, cigarette.

DEVIATED SEPTUM

L. writes: What is done in operating on a deviated septum?

REPLY

Surgery may be advised if the septum of the nose is pushed so far to one side the nasal passageway is blocked. The cartilage in the septum is removed to eliminate the deviated or obstructing portion. The incision thru the membrane is sewed together. Within a few weeks the passageways are open and clear.

DARK SHADOWS

A. S. writes: Are shadows under eyes a sign of unhappiness?

REPLY

No, these shadows develop in healthy persons as well as in those who are dissipated or read all night. Stress of any type, however, may encourage congestion, which deepens the coloring.

IMMUNE MILK

K. A. writes: Is immune milk good for arthritis?

REPLY

No — not even for arthritic cattle. Attempts were made 10 or more years ago to produce a protective milk that would immunize against various diseases as well as hay fever. (A good idea, but it didn't work.)

ENERGY FOODS

E. B. writes: What foods give energy?

REPLY

All foods. Sugars and starches are sources of quick energy. Fats and proteins are burned more slowly and produce a more sustained form of energy. Today's Health Hint — Never follow instincts blindly.

OBITUARIES

Carl I. Warnecke Services

OAKLAND (UPI)—Funeral services will be held in Piedmont Tuesday for Carl I. Warnecke, internationally known architect who helped design the John F. Kennedy grave. He died Saturday of a heart attack at the age of 80.

Warnecke also worked on the Hickory Hill house of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at McLean, Va.

The former president's grave was principally designed by Warnecke's son, John Carl, who had formed the internationally known firm of Warnecke & Warnecke in Oakland in the 1950s. The son later formed John Carl Warnecke & Associates with offices in San Francisco with branches in New York, Rome and Honolulu. The two firms gradually merged.

The senior Warnecke, a native of Montreal, Canada, came to San Francisco shortly before the 1906 earthquake and fire. He had studied at L'Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, starting his architectural career seriously with Arthur Brown Jr., in 1911 on the new city hall.

With Bernard Maybeck, he worked on the classic design of the Palace of Fine Arts for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Although the building was only to be temporary for the fair, it was restored recently and made permanent.

Warnecke designed the Main Branch of the Oakland Public Library, the State Office Building in Oakland, and many buildings on the University of California campus at Berkeley. He also was the designer of the State Capitol of Hawaii in Honolulu.

Expert Cites Misuses Of Insecticides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A University of California environmental expert says that farmers who use insecticides are hurting themselves financially rather than aiding themselves.

Entomology Professor Robert Van Den Borsh told a Senate Agriculture Subcommittee this weekend that the problem with insecticides was not the use of them as much as the corrupted way in which they are marketed.

"The modern insecticide is ecologically crude," he said. "Because nowhere in its synthesis, development or utilization is serious consideration given to the essentially ecological nature of insect control."

"The materials are devised to kill the widest possible pest insect spectra, and thereby capture the widest possible markets. In practice this is the way they are used, the environment be damned! ... and ironically the pocket book of the user too!"

The Berkeley professor urged that Congress pass a law to restrict the misuse of insecticides for insect control.

Heiress Dies In Fall From Jail's Bunk

TULARE, Calif. (UPI) — A pathologist says a Connecticut heiress died from a fall in jail because she didn't receive prompt medical attention.

Dr. Jude Hayes, Tulare County pathologist, reported Sunday on the death of Marina J. Maguire, 27, daughter of the late Russell Maguire who served as board chairman and president of several corporations.

The physician said Miss Maguire, whose home was in New York, bled to death from a ruptured spleen after falling from an upper bunk in a cell at nearby Porterville.

Miss Maguire, who is being buried today at Greenwich, Conn., had been arrested last Wednesday for investigation of charges of drug possession and defrauding an innkeeper.

A jailer found her lying on the floor of her cell Friday morning and she died en route to the Tulare County Hospital. Hayes said her life might have been saved if her falling blood pressure and rapid pulse had been detected and a transfusion administered.

Miss Maguire had been taking daily dosages of methadone, a legal substitute for heroin which is administered to addicts, Hayes said, adding that she could have been going through withdrawal when she fell.

Porterville police said they had been called to a motel because Miss Maguire and a traveling companion, Randolph Boone, 22, also of New York, tried to pay for a room with an expired credit card.

In the couple's chauffeured limousine, police said they found marijuana.

Burton Puts In Aerospace Bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative measures to "alleviate the crippling crisis in the defense-aerospace industry in California" were proposed today by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco.

Burton said Sunday that his program included bills for state action and resolutions asking for federal action.

His legislation would extend a laid-off worker's group health and life insurance benefits for a year after he loses his job, allow workers to draw unemployment insurance immediately upon layoff and call for a statewide program of job training, relocation assistance and other help.

A resolution would ask Congress to set up a "defense employees bill of rights" to provide on-the-job reorientation for laid-off workers.

Minutemen Face Federal Charges

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Two members of the paramilitary Minutemen organization faced charges of bond jumping in federal district court here today.

A Federal Grand Jury indicted Jerome N. Diernert, 43, Arlington, and Erving J. White, 31, Edmonds, early this month for failing to surrender to begin serving federal prison terms.

Both men were arrested in Seattle March 22. Seven Minutemen, including Diernert and White, were convicted in Spokane in 1968 of conspiring to rob two Seattle area banks.

Manson Verdict In Deliberation

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The seven-man, five-woman jury in the Tate-Labianca murder trial has two choices concerning the fate of Charles Manson and the three young women codefendants—life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

The jury's decision on the penalty must be unanimous. In the event it cannot agree, Judge Charles H. Older must by law sentence the defendants to life imprisonment. However, if that does occur, the district attorney can call for a new jury for a penalty retrial.

The jurors had begun weighing the evidence presented in the penalty phase Saturday dressed in sports clothes and pantsuits, and some observers considered that a tipoff they did not expect to reach a quick decision. Following more than five hours of deliberations they spent the remainder of the weekend sequestered at the Alexandria Hotel and were to resume deliberations today.

Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi said he believed it might be three or four days before they decide on punishment in a trial which took nine and one-half months. The same jury deliberated over a period of 10 days before finding Manson, Patricia Krenwinkel, Leslie Van Houten and Susan Atkins guilty of murder and conspiracy to murder on Jan. 25.

The deliberations were being held in a small jury room on the ninth floor of the Hall of Justice above the trial courtroom which seemed strangely empty and silent after the legal histrionics and the outbursts of Manson.

The jurors were predominantly middle class and middle aged. There were no Negroes on the panel in the case where Manson's motive was said by the state to touch off a black-white race war.

The prosecution charged that Manson ordered his followers to kill actress Sharon Tate and four other persons at her home in August, 1969, and Leno Labianca and his wife the following night at their home.

Young GOP Club Backs War Policy

OSHKOSH, Wis. (UPI) — Delegates to the Wisconsin Young Republicans State Convention here Sunday overwhelmingly endorsed President Nixon's phased withdrawal of U.S. troops from Southeast Asia.

The delegates, 175 high school and college-age Republicans, adopted a resolution calling for a "just and honorable peace" in Vietnam before all American soldiers are brought home.

Another resolution adopted Sunday supported a "constructive de-escalation of the welfare system aimed towards getting people off the welfare rolls and into productive positions in American industry."

Nixon Plan On Welfare Challenged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, believes a federal crackdown on deserting fathers is the solution to skyrocketing welfare costs.

Long is concerned about making the deserting father live up to his obligations and believes this to be a sizeable answer to welfare costs threatening cities and states across the country with bankruptcy.

The idea was outlined in a speech Long delivered last week in New Orleans before the southwest region of the American Public Welfare Association. Copies were made available here.

The Louisiana democrat said he is in fundamental philosophical opposition to President Nixon's welfare reform proposals. He believes the proposals will add millions to welfare rolls and provide little incentive for recipients to get off and take jobs.

The President, the senator said, is motivated primarily by a concern with the plight of mothers and children left behind by deserting fathers. On the other hand, if the fathers were made to fulfill their obligations this would leave only the sick, the disabled and mothers of young children to be cared for by states and cities, he added.

HOW HAGEL STEAM CARPET CLEANING WORKS:

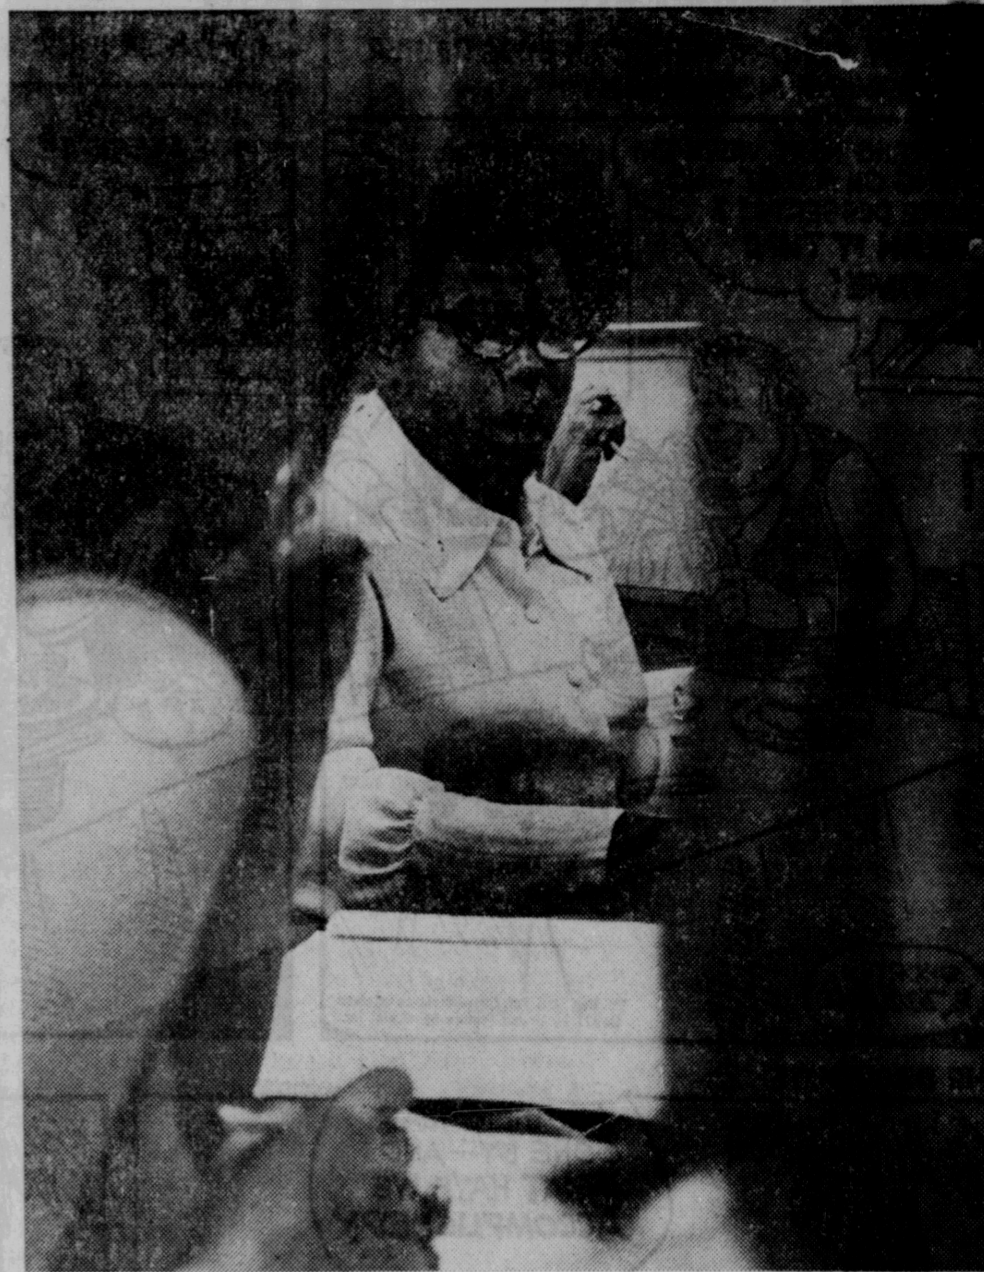

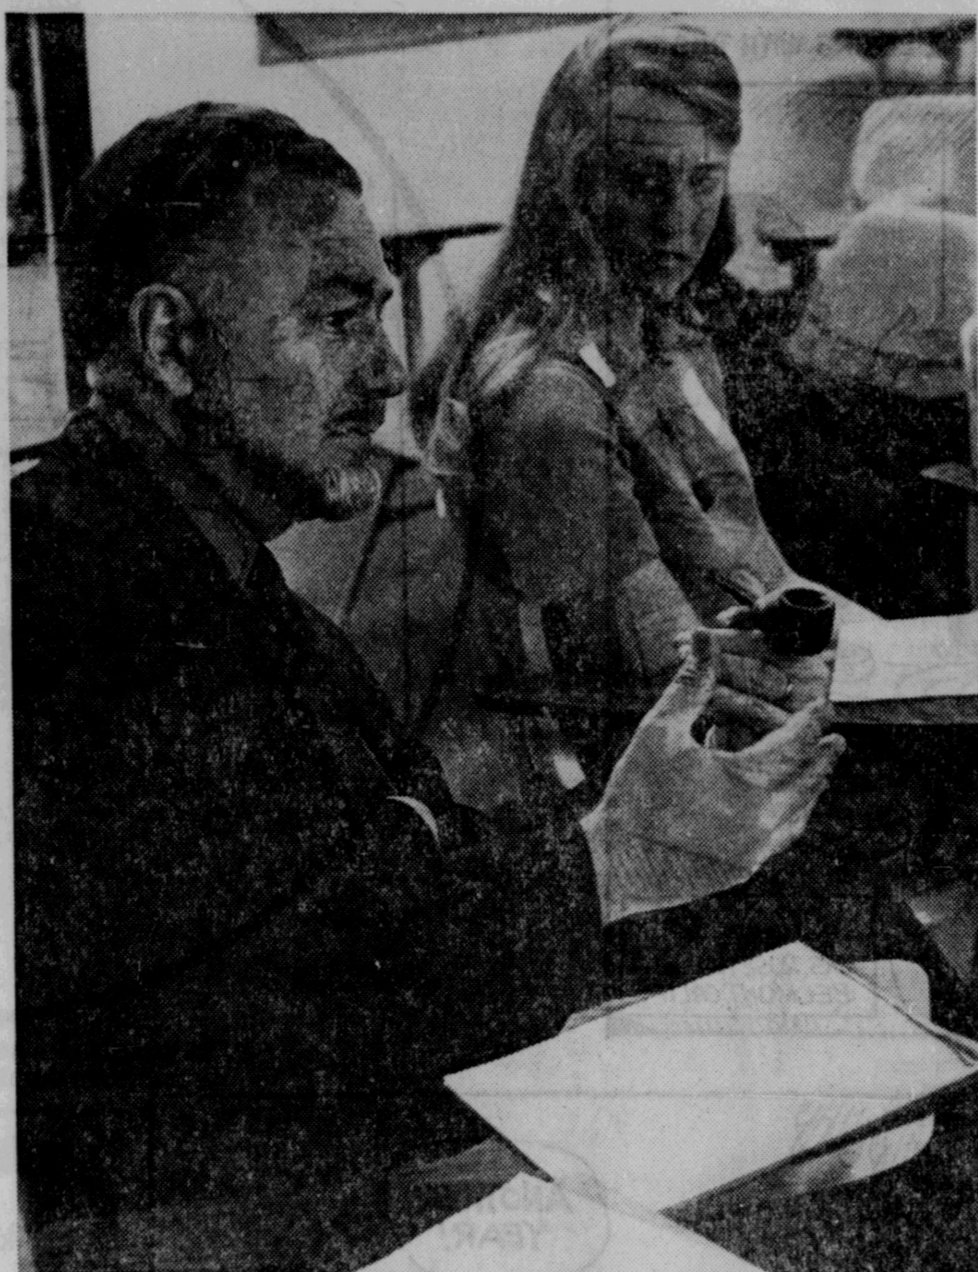

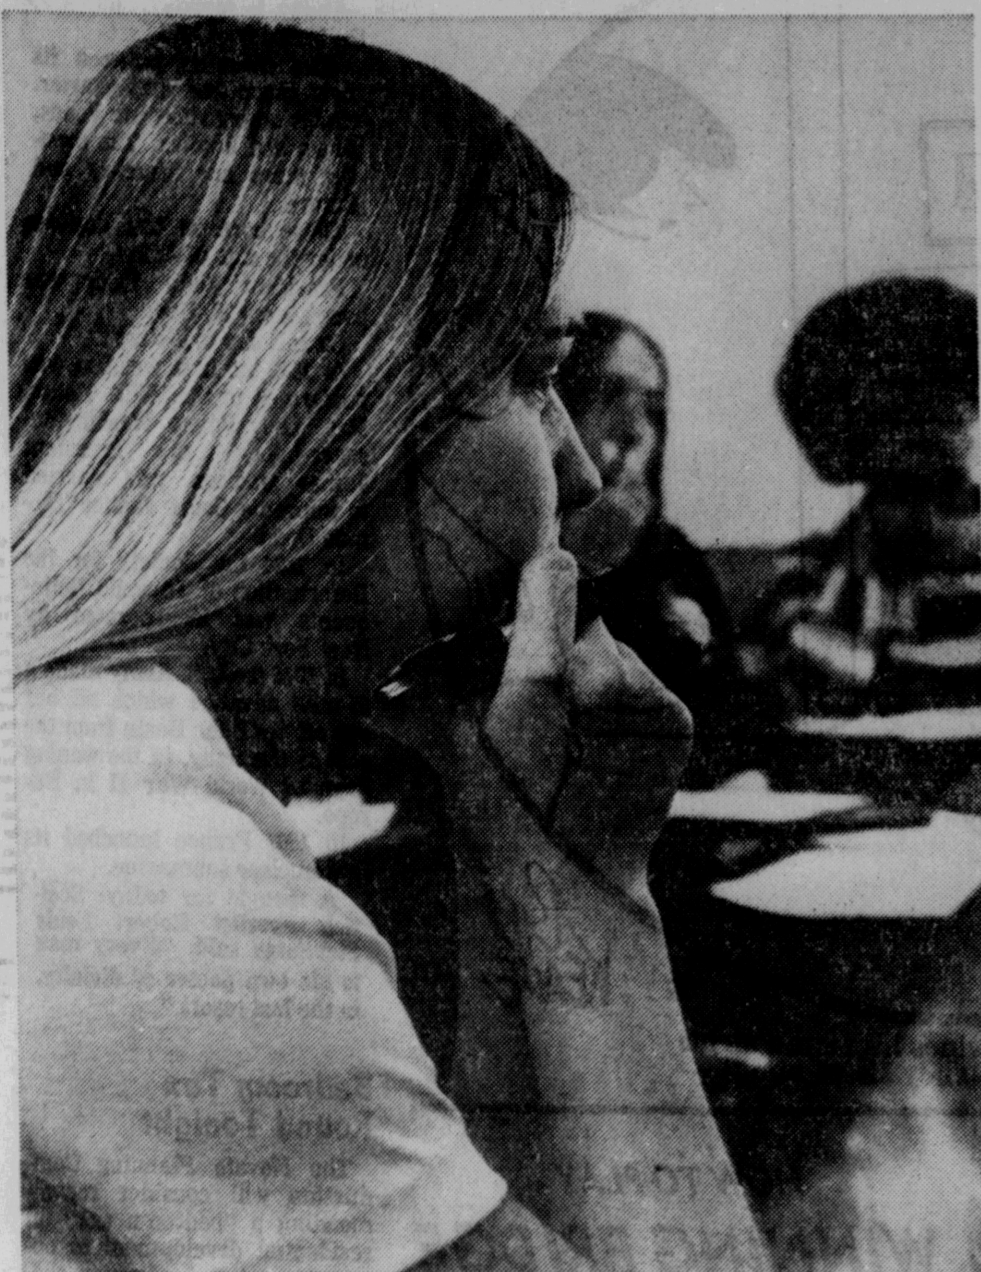

Hagel Steam Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant into the carpet fibres. The cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil in the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. The moisture and soil are then removed by the powerful continuous extraction process. This process keeps your carpet cleaner and protects it longer.

Three Hurt In Weekend Car Mishaps

Three persons received minor injuries in separate accidents during the weekend in San Rafael.

Roderick Dwight Lewis, 14, of 824 E Street, San Rafael was treated for a bruised right leg and chest at Marin General Hospital.

Patricia Charlotte Hall, 24, of 35 Valencia Avenue, Apt. 6, San Rafael, was treated for bruised ribs at Marin General Hospital.

Lewis was riding his bicycle east on Third Street at 5:20 p.m. Saturday, when he swerved to avoid a westbound car driven by William W. Shannon Jr. 25, of 45 Knoll Road, San Rafael, police reported. Lewis's bicycle jumped the curb and hit a pole, according to police.

Mrs. Hall was caught between a 1960 model pickup truck and stairs at 12:30 p.m. yesterday at her home, 35 Dolores Street, Apt. 3, San Rafael, according to police. The pickup truck was driven by her ex-husband, Larry Lee Hall, 29, of San Francisco, police reported.

Bubble Gum Machines Stolen

Police said three youths snatched the machines from the store about 8 p.m. and fled through the Albert Arcade to their auto. Police found shards of the machines and bubble gum strewn about on Robert Dollar Drive at 7:15 a.m. today.

Payless reported very little money was in the machines because they had been emptied the night before.

Attorney Arrested In Crash

A 63-year-old San Rafael attorney has been arrested on suspicion of felony drunken driving after his auto slammed into a taxi cab injuring its passenger, San Anselmo police said today.

Officers said Jasper Charles De Dobbeler, 54 Legend Road, San Anselmo, was traveling westbound on Red Hill Avenue Saturday when his auto struck the parked cab.

Injured was William Edward Markey, 52, of 137 Hillside Avenue, Kentfield, who was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on his leg.

He was just climbing into the cab when the 12:45 a.m. accident occurred. The impact of the crash forced the cab forward striking another parked car, officers said.

De Dobbeler was booked into Marin County Jail after failing to pass the roadside sobriety test, officers said. He later posted $1,200 bail and is scheduled to appear Friday in Marin Municipal Court.

He has law offices at 1010 B Street, San Rafael.

Sewage Extensions Are Urged

State health officials, citing contaminated shellfish around China Camp and Gallinas Creek, today urged that all three sewage outfalls in the area be extended into deep bay water.

The affected dischargers would be the San Rafael Sanitation District's plant at Peacock Gap, Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District and Hamilton Air Force Base.

Extension of the outfalls probably would protect shellfish beds along the shoreline from the sewage, according to a report issued today by the Department of Public Health.

The report was asked by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board — which has the power to enforce the department's recommendations.

The department also recommended that the three dischargers provide "reliable treatment, disinfection and continuous effluent monitoring," and that boats be barred from discharging human wastes in the area. Even those steps would not protect the shellfish unless the outfalls are extended, it said. The San Rafael and Hamilton plants were meeting present requirements to disinfect sewage, but Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District did not, according to effluent samples taken last September.

In a striking contrast, the coliform (bacteria) count at the San Rafael plant was found to be "excellent" at less than 45 MPN per 100 milliliters. The count at the Gallinas Valley plant had a maximum of 300,000 and the median was 146,000.

The MPN count means "most

Poor People To March On Wall Street Boycott

SEATTLE (UPI)—The five-day National Association for Community Development conference opened Sunday with a call for a "poor people's march on Wall Street" April 5 and a boycott of a grocery store chain.

Hosea Williams, a leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was the keynote speaker for the first day of the conference.

Williams said along with the Wall Street march in New York, there would be a boycott of the A & P grocery stores Friday and a march on churches around the nation Sunday. He did not elaborate on any of the demonstration plans.

probable number," and is an indirect statistical count of bacteria.

The report noted that the number of shellfisherman was not large because the beds are not too well known and "people may not want to shellfish because of pollution." Also, "the water shows turbidity and debris which may discourage shellfishing."

But it added that the potential for shellfishing was good — if the beds could be protected.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Instead of Counting Your Losers, Add Up The Winners

I am in favor of motherhood, but I have to vote against some of the maxims we all learn at our mother's knees. "Early to bed and early to rise," and you'll never make much of a bridge player. Likewise, "count your losers at a suit contract," and you'll wind up in the poorhouse. Today's hand may give you a lesson your mother never taught you.

COUNTS LOSERS

West led the queen of diamonds, and South counted his losers: none in spades, one in hearts, none in diamonds and none in clubs. South nodded reassuringly at his partner, won the first trick with the king of diamonds and led a trump to dummy's jack.

When neither defender took the trick, declarer led another trump. This time West took the trick with the ace of hearts and led a third trump, clearing the last trump out of the dummy.

South didn't feel a thing until he had drawn the last trump and run the four clubs. He discarded a diamond on the fourth club but noticed, to his surprise and dismay, that he still had a losing diamond in his hand.

It was useless to look around for the ketchup: the opponents wouldn't let South eat that last diamond. Down one.

COUNT WINNERS

Counting your losers may be a useful short cut in routine hands, but you get no credit for your losers on the scorepad. Count your winners and then make sure that you get them.

In this hand, South should count 11 winners in top cards: two spades, three hearts, two diamonds and four clubs. He needs one additional winner, and can get this by ruffing a diamond in the dummy.

After winning the first trick with the king of diamonds, South should ruff a diamond in

Bedroom Tax Round Tonight

The Novato Planning Commission will consider recommending a "bedroom tax" on residential development to obtain recreation funds at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

The proposed tax would be $75 for a dwelling unit with one bedroom and $15 more for each additional bedroom. Mobile homes would be considered two-bedroom residences and each space would be taxed $90.

Rightists Clash In Canada

TORONTO (UPI) — Rightists wing demonstrators, armed with pipes and a mace-like substance, fought Sunday with members of the audience that came to hear Quebec separatist lawyer Robert Lemieux and labor leader Michel Chartrand.

A janitor was injured by the chemical, a bystander knocked unconscious, and five of the demonstrators were arrested.

The group of about 20 demonstrators, members of the right-wing Edmund Burke society, threw the mace-like chemical into a crowd of about 1,000 at Convocation Hall at the University of Toronto.

Members of the audience threw out the outnumbered demonstrators, who were armed, along with the chemical, with lead pipes four feet long, and stones which they hurled at the crowd.

The demonstrators attacked long-haired bystanders outside the hall, and one was knocked unconscious.

Five demonstrators, all Toronto residents, were arrested and charged with "possession of a volatile substance and possession of a weapon dangerous to the public peace." Police identified the chemical used as "Protect-U," an irritant similar to the riot control chemical "Mace" which they said is commercially available in the United States for individual protection.

Chartrand is head of the Montreal Council of the Confederation of National Trades Unions and Lemieux made his reputation as the courtroom defender of alleged terrorists of the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ), the outlawed group that seeks independence for Quebec from Canada.

Chartrand and Lemieux were two members of a five-man group charged with seditious conspiracy after the Quebec "kidnap crisis" last October. The charges were later dropped. Both Chartrand and Lemieux still are awaiting trial on charges of being members of the FLQ.

High Court Review For Felon Gun Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether the federal gun control law forbids anyone who has been convicted of a serious crime from ever possessing a firearm.

The Court will hear oral arguments on the issue next fall and winter, then will hand down a written opinion in the case of a Bronx, N. Y., man, Kenneth Bass, convicted of violation of the 1968 law. He won a reversal in a federal appeals court.

The Justice Department petitioned the Supreme Court to hear the case next term. Other lower court opinions have differed on interpreting the section of the law which has been used by the government to prosecute about 150 persons.

In other actions, the Court: —Let stand a lower court ruling that a federally assisted housing project may not evict a tenant without giving him a full hearing and an opportunity to answer complaints against him. The action came in a case involving the Durham, N. C., Housing Authority.

—Ruled in a Minnesota case that state universities are entitled to impose nonresident tuition rates on students who have not lived in the state continuously for a year prior to enrollment.

—Denied a hearing to Carlos Marcello, alleged New Orleans crime figure who has been imprisoned on charges of assaulting an FBI agent at the city airport.

—Agreed to examine a series of Ohio election laws which have been challenged as denying the ballot to minority parties and independent candidates. The case will be heard next term.

—Ruled, 5 to 4, in favor of a Louisiana inheritance law which was challenged as denying the rights of illegitimate children. The state argued the law was intended to encourage marriage and to discourage illegitimacy.

In the gun control test case, Bass was sentenced to 15 months in jail on conviction of two counts of illegal possession of firearms.

Bass had been convicted previously of a felony — attempted grand larceny.

The 1968 Gun Control law has a section prohibiting anyone convicted of a felony from possessing firearms on penalty of a $10,000 fine or two years in prison, or both.

The specific language of the statute, however, describes such a person as one "who receives, possesses, or transports in commerce or affecting commerce."

The 2nd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Bass' conviction last Nov. 20, on grounds the government did not specifically allege or prove that the possession of the firearm in his case was "in commerce or affecting commerce."

He was convicted of having a sawed-off shotgun on a night table in his apartment and a Beretta automatic pistol hidden under the bathtub.

The government has used this section of the law about 150 times thus far. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold told the court the intended effect of Congress in enacting the ban "was to make any possession of firearms by a felon a federal offense."

The 2nd Circuit Court said such an interpretation would make the law unconstitutional.

"An interpretation of the statute that would allow prosecution for receipt or possession of firearms without a showing in each case that such receipt or possession was in or affecting interstate commerce would be an unprecedented extension of federal power," the court said.

The 2nd Circuit Court noted there was little congressional debate over the provision for its guidance. The amendment was submitted by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and passed in the wake of the assassinations of the Rev. Martin Luther King April 4, 1968, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy June 5, 1968.

56 Millionaires Paid No Taxes Legislator Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fifty-six Americans who reported adjusted gross income of more than $1 million for 1969 paid no income taxes at all, according to Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis. Reuss quoted Treasury figures that he said showed that 1,203 persons reported adjusted gross income above $1 million for that year, meaning that the only tax bracket in which there was a higher percentage of persons paying no taxes was those earning less than $5,000.

Reuss is proposing legislation to plug various tax loopholes that he says permits many people legally to avoid or lower tax liability.

Pollution Study Grant For College

A National Science Foundation grant of $10,740 has been awarded to Sonoma State College for a research project on "physiological changes effected by exercise in the polluted environment."

Sonoma State is one of the 97 college and universities to share in the $1.5 million grant money. Directing the project will be Sharron L. Mee of Santa Rosa, a student majoring in physical education. Dr. James B. Gale, assistant professor of health sciences and physical education, is project adviser.

Other students participating in the project will be David Nagle, a chemistry major from Rohnert Park, and his wife, Dorothy, a biology major; and three physical education majors, Cathy Bacho of Novato, Thomas Galvin of Rohnert Park and Melanie Elmore of Santa Rosa.

In the study, two groups of rats will be trained on motor drive treadmills, one group in polluted air and the other in clean air. Muscle tissue, lung tissue and adrenal glands will later be examined.

Blinder To Speak On Pornography

Dr. Martin Blinder of San Anselmo and Medical Director of the Family Therapy Institute of Marin will be the main speaker at a discussion on pornography April 14 at Bothin Auditorium, 3700 California Street, San Francisco.

The discussion, sponsored by the Bay Area Psychiatric Clinic Association, will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Author and Broadcaster Fred Goerner will lead the open discussion after Dr. Blinder's talk. All interested mental health professionals have been invited.

Judge Seeks Advice On Calley Jury Prod

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — With still no verdict in sight, the judge in the My Lai court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. said today he would decide Tuesday afternoon whether to discreetly ask the panel what is holding it up.

Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge, said there was very little law on whether a judge has a right to prod a military jury, even in a polite way.

"Anything I do at this point is dangerous," Kennedy said in concurring with a prosecution contention that any message he might send the jurors could raise the issue of judicial error, and possibly serve as grounds for an appeal.

Today marked the 13th day of deliberations over the fate of the 27-year-old Calley, charged with the premeditated murder of 102 unarmed Vietnamese villagers at My Lai three years and 13 days ago.

Kennedy said the post library contained very little information on laws governing a judge's rights in court-martials, and that he was having some research done in Washington. He said the information from Washington would be available Tuesday afternoon.

"If I don't hear from the jury today, I'll take some definite step at that time," Kennedy said.

His announcement came after Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor, had argued that any communication by the judge would raise an issue on appeal.

"You've already recognized the complexity of this case and the right of the jury to rehear testimony," Daniel said. "There's no indication this jury is having difficulty. The indication is it is proceeding meticulously to resolve the conflict—calmly and rationally deliberating in accordance with the instructions of this court. It is not being dilatory and not having difficulty in arriving at a verdict," he added.

Fortune Teller Tipped Man To His Big Win

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (UPI) — Forty years ago a fortune teller told Pete Kwitkowski he would win a fortune when he was about 65.

Saturday, the 63-year-old widower learned he had won $120,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes.

"The first thing I'm going to do is buy me a $9,000 almond color Eldorado Cadillac," he said.

In Arlington, Mass., it wasn't exactly a rude awakening for Francis Brawley.

The 46-year-old senior chemist with the state Department of Public Works was sleeping soundly at his home Sunday morning when a stranger shook his shoulder.

"Who are you?" Brawley asked.

"I'm a reporter and you won $24,000 in the sweeps," the man answered.

Brawley, who held an Irish Sweepstakes ticket on third-place finisher Brother Scott responded "I don't care who you are, order the champagne."

Pakistani Death Toll: '300,000'

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The Pakistan government said today it was restoring order in East Pakistan and that life was returning to normal in Dacca. But the rebellious forces of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman said they fought on despite enormous losses in the four-day-old civil war.

Free Bengal Radio, a clandestine rebel radio monitored in Shillong in India's border state of Assam, said the Pakistani army, navy and air force have killed at least 300,000 East Pakistanis in the past 48 hours. There was no way to check the reports. All India Radio said 5,000 to 7,000 persons had been killed in Dacca alone.

The civil war broke out Friday when Rahman proclaimed the independence of East Pakistan which is separated by the 1,000-mile-wide Indian nation from West Pakistan. President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan ordered his 70,000 troops in East Pakistan to crush the insurrection with their superior troop strength, air and naval power and tanks.

Army controlled Radio Dacca, which normally broadcasts in the afternoon, was off the air today. Free Bengal Radio, the clandestine station whose location was unknown, said Radio Dacca had been recaptured by Liberation army forces, but this was not confirmed. Censorship was total from East Pakistan.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Water District Pledge Has Very Short Life

Last fall, promoting an $11.5 million bond issue to repair and expand its facilities, Marin Municipal Water District sent its water consumers an attractive brochure which contained this statement:

"This is the first step in the implementation of the district's 'master plan' designed to meet water supply and system improvement needs over the next 20 years. This 'master plan' will be implemented only as need dictates and will be financed through a series of bond elections, with the second election perhaps coming next year to finance the first stage of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct."

The $11.5 million bond issue to finance "the first step" barely squeaked through. With a 63 per cent turnout of the district's registered voters on Nov. 3, the vote was 37,119 "yes" to 18,378 "no," or 66.88 per cent in favor.

LAST WEEK, the water district board of directors voted unanimously to ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley to introduce a bill which would allow Marin Municipal Water District to borrow $18 million from the Sonoma County Water Agency to finance the second phase of its "master plan," thus avoiding another bond election.

When the water district went to the voters in November, it was with a promise that future phases of the expansion would be subject to bond election approval. The promise was right there in the district-published brochure:

"This 'master plan' will be implemented only as need dictates and will be financed through a series of bond elections..."

Less than five months have gone by, and already the water district directors — all of them — have forgotten or chosen to ignore this pledge to the voters.

THIS NEWSPAPER supported the bond issue measure with some misgivings. In an editorial last Oct. 26, we recommended a "yes" vote but said:

"... We accompany this recommendation with a warning to the water district that hereafter it needs to do a whole lot better job of husbanding its resources and delivering potable water when and where it is needed. And it needs to be a whole lot more frank and open with the public about what it is doing."

We called attention that the district already had raised its water rates 25 per cent to provide revenue to retire the bond issue which had not then yet come before the voters.

There was no mention last week of how much the district plans to increase water rates to repay the $18 million (plus interest) to the Sonoma County Water Agency.

THE DISTRICT DIRECTORS, again unanimously, also asked Assemblyman Bagley to introduce a "security blanket" bill allowing creation of a master agency including Marin Municipal and North Marin water districts plus Sonoma County, which could submit a $47.5 million bond issue to the voters of both counties — this in case the bill to bypass the voters entirely failed to pass.

We do not see why the voters of North Marin Water District, or of Sonoma County, should decide the fate of a Marin Municipal Water District "master plan" expansion program.

We trust that Assemblyman Bagley, who represents all of Marin County — not just the five short-memoried directors of Marin Municipal Water District — will refuse to introduce the bills.

We think the promise by which the MMWD board induced district residents to obligate themselves to put up $11.5 million — plus interest — deserves to be kept a little longer than five months.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

$140,000 For Environment Study With Results Ignored In Advance

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

No matter how hard it tries to be nice to the environment, the State Division of Highways still comes up an awful looking beast.

The division is about to spend several hundred thousand dollars on a study of air pollution from freeway traffic. But, at the same time, the division clearly reveals it intends to ignore any findings by the study that would interfere with its freeway plans.

The division's parent, the Department of Public Works, last year with some fanfare set up a "pollution control program." One of its aims was to avoid degradation of the environment from air pollution caused by freeways.

So the division has asked the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to tell it what air pollution would result from freeways it plans to build in the nine-county Bay Area.

The district staff estimated its study for the division would take a minimum of three years and cost $140,000 for the first year alone.

THE KEY TO HOW the division expects to use the study, however, was clear in its letter asking the district to do the study. It said the study "should also contain possible alternative solutions to foreseeable air pollution problems which may occur if the project is constructed."

Interpreted, this meant, "What bright ideas can you come up with if we decide to ignore the air pollution effects of new freeways, and build them anyway?"

Air pollution control district officials threw up their hands and conceded to us that there were no "alternative solutions" if freeways were built despite findings that they would cause additional air pollution.

That the study cannot possibly arrive at other findings was suggested by a member of the control district's advisory council, James F. Reed III, mayor of San Anselmo. He asked, "Is there any freeway built in the Bay Area we wouldn't consider a total environmental disaster?"

The division of Highways ought to save its money for fending off the future rather than burn it up on studies it will ignore unless favorable to its freeway plans.

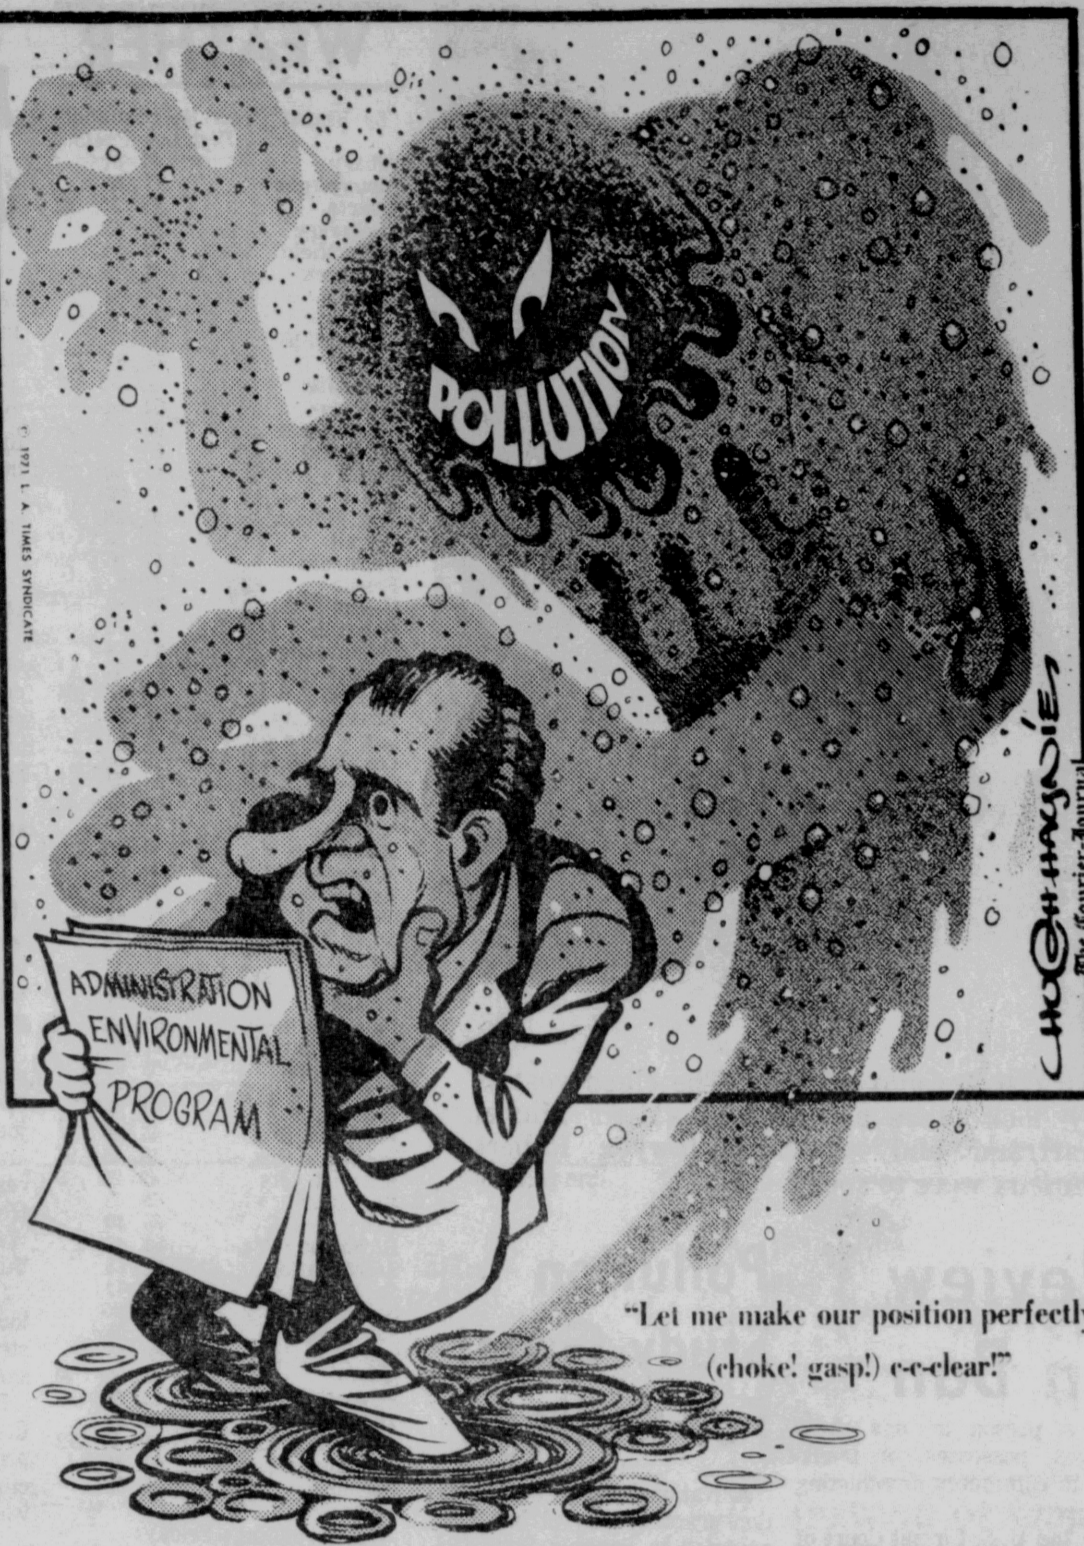

CALIFORNIA LABOR has been riding proudly on the environmental bandwagon in recent times, so we were confused when it aligned itself with the highway lobby to oppose legislation to finance transit from gasoline taxes.

The object of the opposition is a bill (AB 269) by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to replace a penny of the gas tax with a sales tax raising the same revenue. The new revenue would be earmarked for mass transit and environmental preservation and protection as well as for roads. So much for consistency.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Why Tell Only Part Of History?

A recent photo printed in your paper was captioned: "Teachers Feel Like Slaves" and further read: "Roped to gether wrist to wrist, teachers taking a University of California extension course in black history learn for themselves how African slaves must have felt, packed into the holds of slave trade ships crossing the Atlantic to the U.S." Spread-eagled across the floor were 12 students, lashed ankle to ankle and wrist to wrist.

Since you found it necessary to print this picture in the first place, why didn't you tell the whole story? Why always downgrade America?

The U.S. was certainly engaged in this nefarious trade (along with other major powers, including England, Portugal, Denmark, France, etc.), but a goodly portion of the negroes shipped had previously been slaves of their own leaders; in fact, had been born into slavery.

Possibly one or two out of a hundred natives enslaved were free Africans kidnaped by Europeans. As to the remainder, the African chiefs were instrumental in rounding up this human cargo, by method of making war on surrounding tribes and by inclusion of even their own people. Had it not been for this warring among the tribes and eagerness of the tribal leaders for trade goods the slave trade would never have existed.

The whole history of mankind is tragic with the story of man's inhumanity to man. Look to any country in the world and examine its past and you will find that this is so.

But as each new babe is born into this world cleansed of the sins of his father, neither should we of today be conscience-stricken because over a century ago unscrupulous American shipowners (along with shipowners of other countries) engaged in the slave trade. Nor should the past be continually dug up and taught to our young to emphasize past wrongs.

Let us stop downgrading America and for a change be kind to ourselves. We have much to be proud of!

San Rafael High Students Praised

In regard to the situation of things today I would like to commend San Rafael High School for our never-ending fight to mend. Never, until the last couple years, have I seen such a large group of interested students as there.

We, along with many other Marin County schools, have set up a recycling depot, and it is coming off with great success. Every Saturday and Sunday one can find a group of hard working, free labor students in front of the high school smashing cans, breaking bottles, and bundling newspapers.

This school, in my opinion, is far ahead of many other California schools politically-wise, even though there is a wide variance of opinion between students and Dr. (Alan W.) Ellsberg, the principal. Teachers and students together have been studying major problems of the U.S. and the world, and subjects like these have become the topics of discussion in many classrooms. Many teachers are becoming turned on to the ideas of the students, and some have even been seen wearing buttons such as "Free Angela."

In short, the students who graduate from SRHS have been exposed to the hard core facts and problems that will face them later in life. They are better prepared on account of the deep political and ecological education they have received. They have been exposed to all sides of these problems and have chosen their own road. Although many people will still follow in the parents' footsteps to make millions before they die, many more have seen what they have to do — make this world a better place to live in by cleaning it up both ecologically and politically.

Industry Must Attack Pollution Or Be Forced By Government

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has said he does not intend to "beat industry over the head" to get it to quit polluting the environment.

That's a fair way to begin, but if industry as a whole does not do more soon to safeguard the environment, the government or the public is going to get much tougher.

It will be a great mistake for industrial polluters if they wait to find out how tough.

THERE'S NO MERIT in looking for a scapegoat. The federal government has been tardy and slow in coming to grips with the pollution problem. Industry has been tardier and slower. Consumers avow they want pollution-free products, but there is little evidence they are prepared to pay their share of the extra costs.

But the President and Congress are beginning to move more vigorously. Industry cannot afford to lag behind. It is one of the most visible polluters and plainly its dominant instincts are to say "No, it can't be done" or "Perhaps, later."

Informed environmentalists are convinced — and it seems to me they are right — that industry is moving much too slowly in taking on its antipollution responsibilities. It seems to be waiting to be pushed, and, when pushed, it usually responds with only nice words. Its cozy TV commercials are doing industry harm by creating the impression that business is primarily concerned with fashioning a good superficial image for itself so it can avoid doing what needs to be done.

TWO THINGS would be immediately helpful:

1 — Every major business whose processes and products contribute to pollution should organize itself to make sure that its policy-making executives give environmental safety a very high priority, perhaps equal in importance to making good profit.

Every such company should have a vice president for environment with authority equal to his duties. This would serve as notice to operating executives at lower levels that their company isn't just going through the motions when it tells the public how eager it is to reduce pollution.

2 — Just as Congress and the President are requiring every arm of the federal government to make a public environmental impact statement which goes to the Council on Environmental Quality for comment before any action is taken which might involve pollution, industry should do the same thing.

If companies accepted the same responsibilities as government to protect the environment — (and why shouldn't they?) — this would mean that the pollution factor would be seriously examined in developing new products, new processes and in plant locations.

INDUSTRY IS ALREADY showing itself greatly resistant to the idea of providing the government with precise information on products, such as detergents, which might hurt the environment. Spokesmen for industry want to put the burden on government to test for harmful content and then make its case against the product.

Fighting pollution shouldn't be a game of hide-and-seek in which business hides and the government seeks. If that's to be the attitude, then Congress will inevitably pass the equivalent of a Pure Product and Environment Act with all the requirements for disclosure as in the Pure Food and Drug Act.

If industry does not become the active ally of the antipollution crusade of its own volition, all its sugar-coated TV commercials will not save it from the hot and hostile breath of public criticism from dissident stockholders and aroused environmentalists.

How crucial is this battle of the environment? The careful and measured judgment of President Nixon, who is no doomsayer, is that the United States faces "the prospect of ecological disaster" and that our stake in winning this battle is "our very survival."

We're not near to winning it yet.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Maybe President Should Let Klein Do Talking

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — If you read the result of the SST vote in the Senate as an interim report on Mr. Nixon's spring public relations campaign, that effort rates failing marks.

The idea of the campaign is to build up the President as a popular and powerful leader who is to be crossed by legislators at their own peril. But when the chief executive, backed by big labor and big industry, lays his personal prestige on the line and still is defeated by five votes, his image of popularity and power is badly tarnished.

The fact is that the key wavering senators were just as close observers of the public opinion polls as Mr. Nixon himself. They had to balance the high public interest in spending priorities and the environment against pressure from a President whose public confidence rating at last report was at the lowest point since he came into office. The choice was obvious.

The result is sure to be more, not less, exertion to upgrade Mr. Nixon's poll standings. Already since the first of the year, he has submitted to journalistic questioning eight times (although only twice to the Washington press in general, as opposed to carefully chosen individuals or small groups).

NOW, DESPITE that exposure, despite Mr. Agnew's efforts against the networks, and despite the exercise by Herbert Klein's office of an awesome power of suggestion about who will talk about the SST on the Dick Cavett Show, Mr. Nixon is down again.

It should be noted that when ABC gave in under White House pressure and presented the administration's pro-SST spokesman without any balancing opposite view, the network's Howard K. Smith interview with the President was all arranged — but not yet consummated. You can draw whatever conclusions you like about that.

When that interview was broadcast, it reached about five million homes, compared to 14 million for Doris Day and Carol Burnett on CBS and 17 million for the movies on NBC at the same time. But no matter how relatively few watched the President, and whether or not ABC thought the honor was worth the ignominy of caving in on the Cavett show controversy, the presidential audience still was many times more than that watching Herb Klein on the air the following night.

YET, OFF HIS performance on the educational TV network, as interviewed by Elizabeth Drew, Klein might be doing the administration more good if he stepped out from his behind-scenes role more often.

The principal reason is style, which is so important in television and on which the President's coaches have spent years and millions without conspicuous success. Even when he is on live, as he was in the Smith interview, Mr. Nixon seems rehearsed.

Not that Klein is stylish in the modes of the moment — no fancy hair or haberdashery. But he is an effective contrast to the President. He comes on with a hesitant, soft-spoken approach that reminds a discerning television fan of Tommy Smothers.

OF COURSE he said some outrageous things. For example, he allowed with a straight face that Mr. Agnew and Sen. Robert Dole, the GOP chairman, were acting strictly on their own in attacking the networks. He also said the more "conscientious" media practitioners had noticeably improved since Mr. Agnew first pointed out their sins.

He even added some things that needed saying about the media. Quite legitimately, he noted that when the South Vietnamese move into and out of Laos and call it the tactics of mobility, most of the press sneers and calls it shameful retreat. But the enemy has used similar hit-and-run strikes from the beginning, and in doing so won praise as brilliant tacticians.

KLEIN THUS QUIETLY scored a point about double standards. If the vice president had tried the same thing, the whole studio would have been spattered with blood.

Up to now it has been Klein who has arranged the President's public appearances for maximum visibility on the tube and minimum questioning or analysis of his performance while it is hot. Eliminating the middleman, some call it.

What is suggested, only slightly facetiously, by recent events is that Klein might help the opinion polls more by eliminating the chief executive as chief spokesman and telling it straight to the public himself.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

Is Marin The 'Drug Capital' Or San Francisco Satellite?

My sharp-eyed teen-aged sons spotted a line in a San Francisco Chronicle story the other day which seemed to indicate that Marin County is the place to come for big drug buys.

The sentence read in part, "agency had arranged to make a $9,000 purchase of LSD ... but at the last minute their contact said he would have to go to Marin County for an amount of the drug that large."

This statement was made in connection with a big drug bust in the Haight-Ashbury district where a house belonging to a commune was raided.

IS MARIN COUNTY the drug capital of Northern California?

I've been told by lawyers who represent pushers that it is one of the biggest import centers for illegal drugs in the country, but have never been able to confirm this. I've also been told that it's almost pointless to clean the drugs out of Marin because it's so easy to go over to San Francisco where the real supply is.

As for efforts of the local "narks" to catch big fish, their latest bust certainly turned out to be a real bummer.

Two men, arrested last week in San Rafael after a month-long investigation, allegedly sold the agents 26,000 tabs of LSD. After the big haul was run through the chemist's lab, it turned out the narks had purchased a pile of innocent little artificial sweetening tablets.

RECENT ARGUMENTS by attorneys for Angela Davis that her court appearances should be held in the supervisors' chambers, rather than a courtroom in the Hall of Justice, led one court wag to make another suggestion.

"The only room that is the type they're looking for is Judge (Thomas F.) Keating's courtroom in the old courthouse," said Karl Hoppe, clerk for the Davis case.

"We could all move down there and the extras could hang on the cobwebs," he said.

FAR REMOVED from drugs and murder cases is the idyllic campus of Dominican College, visited recently in connection with a story on the girls' school going coed.

Sister Samuel Conlan, president of the small college, summed up the difference between Dominican and many other institutions by telling a little story she said took place about five years ago.

"During the time of the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley, a girl who had got into some kind of hot water here (Dominican came into my office," Sister Samuel related.

"We talked for a while and finally, through her tears, she said, 'The trouble is that over there (Berkeley), no one cares and here, everyone cares too much.'

"We've been trying to care just the right amount since then," the nun said smilingly.

Trash We Throw Away Can Become An Asset

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The trash which piles up in American cities at a rate of 200 million tons a year can become an economic asset instead of a costly liability.

This fact, long ago discovered by European cities, is at last gaining widespread recognition in the United States.

And that's good news for taxpayers, for all concerned about the reckless speed with which we are depleting our natural resources, and for those who hate to see an evergrowing portion of our land covered with unsightly refuse dumps.

THE COLLECTION and disposal of solid wastes is one of the more expensive chores performed by the modern municipality. Altogether American cities are spending upwards of $4 billion a year on this one function.

Included in our mountains of trash are many types of materials — including glass (from bottles), aluminum (from cans) and cellulose (from paper)—that can be reclaimed and reused.

This "recycling" of refuse, as technicians call it, can sharply reduce the cost of trash handling and may even enable cities to begin making a profit on the operation.

Moreover, it will relieve the drain on our mines and forests resulting from our profligate habit of using a material once and then throwing it away.

Glass bottles, for example, when pulverized, may be used either as a raw material for making more glass, or mixed with asphalt and used as a paving material.

The aluminum in cans can be melted down and reused.

Paper — which constitutes about 80 per cent of all urban trash—can be processed into fertilizer or burned in special incinerators as fuel for electric power generating stations.

MANY CITIES in the Netherlands are now making agricultural fertilizer from converted wastes. Refuse-burning power plants are in operation in France, Germany, Sweden and Denmark.

In the United States, Chicago and Atlanta recently have installed large scale plants for separation and recycling of trash. Other cities are preparing to follow suit.

To encourage the trend, Congress last year enacted the "Resource Recovery Act of 1970" which authorizes $460 million in federal grants to help cities devise less wasteful means of handling waste.

One American firm, the Combustion Power Co., is developing a unit that will consume 400 tons of garbage a day, and from it produce enough electricity to supply the needs of about 25,000 persons.

In Brooklyn, another private company called Ecology, Inc., is operating a plant which "digests" trash and turns it into a crumbly powder which makes an excellent vehicle for chemical fertilizers. Its officials think they can do this at a profit, purely as a commercial operation.

THE RECYCLING movement also could be the answer to the problem of what to do about ugly graveyards of junked automobiles now burdening the American landscape.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association reports that nine million cars were dismantled and converted into useable steel scrap in 1968. Since only eight million cars were junked that year, we seem to have taken a modest bite out of the huge backlog that accumulated during the years when U.S. industry couldn't be bothered with reclaiming steel for reuse. Now that really IS progress.

Downtown Study Panel Will Meet

The downtown study committee of the Larkspur Town Meeting will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Larkspur Library to discuss the refurbishing of business buildings with city merchants.

The idea of a coordinated effort to improve the Magnolia Avenue business area was suggested at the November Town Meeting.

Union Vote Election Is Rejected

I-J Special Report
WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board has set aside a June 1969 election in which employees of a Corte Madera Woolworth store rejected unionization.

An NLRB order released March 16 also requires the store's management to recognize Local 1119 of the Retail Clerks Union as the employees' exclusive collective-bargaining agent — if the union requests such recognition.

The order upheld a decision issued October 22, 1970, by an NLRB trial examiner.

The Woolworth store's management "engaged in unfair labor practices" by attempting to affect the outcome of the election at a series of employee meetings before the vote, the board held.

The NLRB found that at the time of the election, 20 of the 22 store employees eligible for union membership had applied for union cards.

But, at the June 15, 1969 election, the union was defeated in a 10 to 10 tie.

Management's threats and promises of prompt relief for wage demands "undermined the union's majority status," according to the board's decision.

5 Students Advance In Scholar Test

Five Marin and Southern Sonoma high school seniors will compete April 7 as semifinalists in Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s $64,000 annual college scholarship program.

Among a total of 14 semifinalists from Northern California are Anders E. Carlsson of Redwood High School, Larkspur; Frances M. Coulter and Michael R. Patrick of San Rafael High School; Gregory L. Griffin of Novato High School and James C. Dechene of St. Vincent High School, Petaluma.

The April 7 judging will be held at an undisclosed location in San Rafael.

Three finalists will be chosen by a panel of judges from the education and business fields. The finals will be held in San Francisco.

Two other Marin students also are competing as semifinalists in a scholarship program for the children of PG&E employees. Competing with two other Northern California students are Sandra C. Marshall, San Rafael High School, and Michael J. Radovich of Tamalpais High School, Mill Valley.

Scholarship winners from both groups will be announced at a dinner April 28 in San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel.

Review Set On Student Tests

The Tamalpais High School District board, meeting today at 8 p.m. at the Redwood High School faculty lounge, will review the mandatory state testing program for students.

The board had been scheduled to consider the controversial district reorganization plan but the matter had been held over for another meeting since a full board is not expected Monday.

The board also is scheduled to go into closed session to hear charges against a Tamalpais High School teacher.

Livestock Show To Open At Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The world's largest livestock exposition, with 2,573 animals expected, gets under way April 3 at the Cow Palace.

The Grand National Junior Livestock Exposition is expected to draw 1,594 youngsters from 42 California counties to display their steers, lambs, hogs and dairy cattle.

Lecture Series Slated On Ecology, The Oil Spill

A four-part lecture series on ecology and the San Francisco Bay oil spill in January has been scheduled for April at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

The series, "Crisis in Conservation," will begin Friday at 8 p.m. with Dr. Gordon Chan's "Duxbury Reef: Before and After." Chan, a biology instructor at the college, will show slides, films and photographs taken during and after the collision of two Standard Oil Co.

tankers in the bay.

Chan's presentation will be followed on April 14 at 8 p.m. with "The Common Fight to Clean Up the Spill" by Charles Auerbach. Auerbach is in charge of Standard Oil's clean-up operations.

Other lectures will be "How the (Bollinas Lagoon was Saved," set for April 21 at 8 p.m., and "Conservation Convocation: Projections for the Future," set for April 28 at 8 p.m.

Three Hurt In Auto Accidents

Three persons received minor injuries in two accidents Saturday afternoon, California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

David Charles Webb, 19, of 1099 West California Street,

Mill Valley, and Susan Myra Pomeroy, 18, of 92 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael, were treated at Marin General Hospital for minor cuts and bruises.

Webb was driving north on Bolinas Ridge Road 1.7 miles north of Ridgecrest Road at 1 p.m. when his car went off the road, patrolmen reported.

James F. Picchi, 26, of 445 Sunset Parkway, Novato, was to see his own doctor for minor injuries received at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, patrolmen reported.

Picchi's car, southbound on the Petaluma Point Reyes Road near Novato Boulevard, collided with one driven north on the same road by Walter L. Simonds, 44, of 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, according to the patrol.

The governor of California has appointive power for nearly 2,000 persons on boards and commissions.

Unemployment Bill For Farm Workers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to grant unemployment insurance benefits to farm workers was proposed today by Assemblyman David Pierson, D-Inglewood.

"My bill benefits more than 200,000 workers," he said. "There is no valid reason to continue exclusion of farm workers from benefits available to most segments of society."

Unionized Bricklayer Likes Job

By KAY MOORE
MEMPHIS, Ind. (UPI)—Until she shows you her muscles, Earlene Broady might be just another pea-shelling, quilt-stitching farmwife in this southern Indiana community. But in a normal day's work, she makes brick walls, fireplaces and plumbing fixtures as well as homemade biscuits and jam.

The 39-year-old mother of three says she has been told by national union officials that she is the only woman bricklayer in the nation in their membership records.

DURING HER five years of work for her husband's private masonry firm, Mrs. Broady has mortared the walls of such structures as a new post office in New Albany, a library at the Jeffersonville branch of Indiana University, and countless apartment and housing projects throughout Indiana.

Mrs. Broady's day begins at 4 a.m. when she helps her husband, Martin, milk the cows and feed the chickens before the couple and a married son, Martin Earl, go to work on bricklaying projects. Her toil also includes pouring concrete, installing plumbing, laying floors, hanging doors, and painting.

"I tell everyone that bricklaying is no harder than housekeeping, except you have the scars to show for it," Mrs. Broady told UPI in her pronounced rural accent.

The "scars" of her masonry career have included several broken toes and fractured ribs from accidents, but the energetic Mrs. Broady said she doesn't "believe in missing work for sickness" and boasts a perfect record of no absenteeism during her five years on the job. She's never had a backache, although she lifts up to 100 pounds at a time without help.

SHE CREDITS her large capacity for labor and her innate restlessness to her childhood in Asphalt, Ky., where she was the oldest daughter in a family of 14 children.

"There was always a lot of woodchoppin' to be done, and girls were good as boys at that," she said.

A small, sturdy woman with sparkling blue eyes and honey blonde hair, Mrs. Broady, like any other working wife, finds the housecleaning still to be done when her days of mortar and plaster has ended. Before supper, she and her husband and the two younger Broady sons, ages 10 and 14, go to the barn for the evening milking.

On Sunday, her only "day off," she sews, embroiders, mows the lawn, cans the yield of her garden, and entertains "between 25 and 30 people who just drop in" to the Broady's spacious yellow brick home filled with antique furniture.

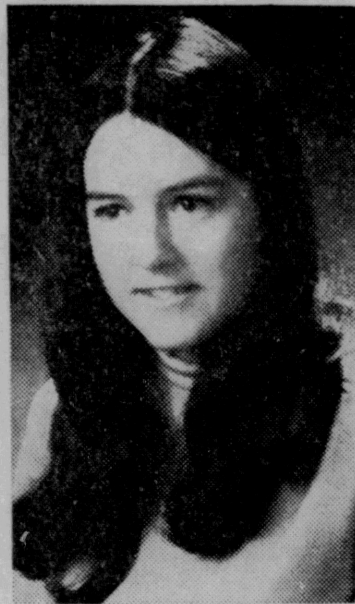

The Broadys built the house themselves on a 98-acre farm "at night after the rest of the work was done." A large brick fireplace—the house's conversation piece—was Mrs. Broady's pet project.

"I LOVE brickin' fireplaces best," she said, adding that she likes to experiment with colored mortars and white brick, a relatively new innovation in the masonry craft.

Though to her, much of the current women's liberation movement is "a lot of tomfoolery," Mrs. Broady had a first-hand taste of sex discrimination two years ago when she applied for membership in the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union of America.

After her union local and state federation refused to

Julie Calls Tricia 'Howard Hughes Of White House'

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Julie Nixon Eisenhower says her bride-to-be sister, Tricia, can handle all the publicity surrounding her forthcoming marriage to Edward Finch Cox because "she's known as the Howard Hughes of the White House."

The President's 22-year-old daughter also describes herself as a "new person" now that she is out of the "very oppressive atmosphere" of Smith College where she said she was "harassed" by not aligning herself with student peace strikes and fasts.

As for the women's liberation movement, Julie says she "really got a kick out of" a comment by actress Zsa Zsa Gabor who said: "If the woman wears the pants in the family, the husband's mistress will wear the sable."

Julie also revealed she likes the idea of her husband, Ens. David Eisenhower, going into politics "more and more" and says "it grows on you."

SHE MADE these comments in a freewheeling interview with Clare Crawford on WRC-

TV in Washington. The taped show took place in the queen's room in the family quarters of the White House, where Julie says there are advantages to living because of its "room service and hotel-like atmosphere."

Julie also disclosed she is doing some family missionary work against the drug scene with David's sister, Mary Jean, who is in the 10th grade at a school in Brussels where David's father, John Eisenhower, is the U.S. ambassador.

Speaking of Mary Jean, Julie said: "Many of her friends in school are taking drugs, and there is a great pressure to conform and to be, you know, part of the drug scene. So I have talked to her about it."

"I think that by taking drugs you really are tuning out. I really believe this so strongly. And this is why I find it so sad ... and I know it's a terrible problem."

She said going into the Navy was "difficult for David." "I know he dreaded it," she said.

"Because, you know, it is a challenge, and you know that it's going to be hard physically and there's going to be real competition, and you wonder, well, can you really measure up."

SHE SAID David had it even tougher because his grandfather, the late Dwight D. Eisenhower, a five-star general, and his father, a retired colonel, "have been great military people."

Julie says she has "no regrets" that she was not married in the White House. Her wedding took place at Marble Collegiate Church in New York two years ago.

Asked whether she had any advice for Tricia and Edward now that they are moving into the spotlight, Julie said:

"I'm sure she and Eddie will be able to handle it. And she's known as the Howard Hughes of the White House so she's been able to handle it so far."

Industrialist Hughes has not been seen in public in years and is generally acknowledged as being the world's champion at avoiding public attention.

SHE SAYS she is bothered the most when her father is called "an opportunist or insincere."

"I think there couldn't be anyone who wants to do good for the country more than my father, and he's willing to put his political life on the line," she said.

"I think that he's not worried about political considerations," she said. "Because, for example, I read all the articles about how President Johnson agonized over decisions and all. But yet I've been with him (her father) on many occasions. I've been in the house when he's made decisions and all. And he's so assured and calm. And though I'm sure he had doubts, yet he really has what he calls 'the peace of the center,' because he feels what he's doing is right. So there really hasn't been this great agony, at least, he hasn't expressed it to the rest of us."

Julie said all the women in the Nixon family get "upset" with press criticism, but not her father. "He says, 'oh, don't read the stuff and all this,'" she said.

"HE'S NOT petty at all ... but if you keep reading little petty things, it finally gets to you. You just have to rise above it."

"I think the best way to describe him (her father) is a very sensitive, thoughtful person." And also I think a good word to use, and one really fits him, is that he's very sweet.

"And he's just always been

What To Do When The Hostess Passes Out The Marijuana Joints

DEAR HELEN:

It's generally assumed in our town that better-class citizens won't be bothered by the police if they smoke grass in their own homes. Adults, that is.

However, my husband and I don't smoke and try to avoid pot parties. Until the law is changed, we'd rather not take a chance.

So what do you do when a couple of guests in your home light up? They even offered joints to other guests. We're quite new here and didn't want to seem provincial.

That's a new etiquette question not yet in the books.—TERREY

DEAR TERRER:

A host and hostess have a right to regulate the conduct of their guests, especially if it may threaten their safety. You should have told them quietly that you'd rather be un-hip than busted. If they don't respect your wishes, don't invite them back.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The guys I showed this letter to said you wouldn't print it because I don't write so good. But I have to answer that lady who thinks if veterans get five points preference for Civil Service jobs, housewives should, too (because they are veterans of "battles").

I am a veteran and didn't ask to be one. Wives have a choice. They can say "No" to the guy.

The way I see it, the government took my job away from me and sent me to 'Nam, and then messed up my country while I was gone, so I come back to inflation and no jobs. So why shouldn't I get a five-point "break" when I take a test?

Dames want too much. Let them go to war, if they think it's so easy. If more of them would stay home and take care of their houses, maybe us vets could get work.—BILLY

DEAR HELEN:

"Friend of a Friend" described a "still lovely" wife whose cruel husband abandoned her. The other side is quite different: My "still lovely" wife has made our home a constant battleground. She has had one affair, and makes passes at anything in pants. She is a constant nag and social snob, with the temper of a shrew. She refuses to sleep with me.

I have not "discarded her for a younger woman." She can have the money. All I want is my manhood and self-respect back — a little happiness and love.—FREE AT LAST

DEAR FREE:

You are the "Friend of the Friend" come from different parts of the country, but if the shrew fits...—H.

Couple To Live In Boston

Planning to make their home in Boston are Lt. and Mrs. Erik Michael Stolle, who were married Saturday afternoon at St. Isabella's Church in San Rafael.

The bride, the former Mary A. O'Key, is the daughter of Lt. Col. (USAF-ret.) and Mrs. Fred W. O'Key of San Rafael. She was attended by her sister, Donna Kathleen O'Key of San Rafael, as maid of honor, and by Judy Dietz of San Rafael and Shariene Book of Mill Valley.

Like the bridegroom, the best man and attendants are all 1970 graduates of the Air Force Academy. Lt. Michael J. Vilbert served as best man and Lt. John Pomeroy and Lt. Jay Tobin ushered.

A reception was given at the Officers Club at the Presidio in San Francisco afterward.

The couple plan a delayed wedding trip to the Bahamas after Erik completes work on a master's degree in aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston.

The bride, who is the sister of Donna, Fred Jr., Charles, Michael and Patrick O'Key, attended Marin Catholic High School, was graduated from Terra Linda R.N. School from the College of Marin. She has been employed as a nurse at Marin General Hospital.

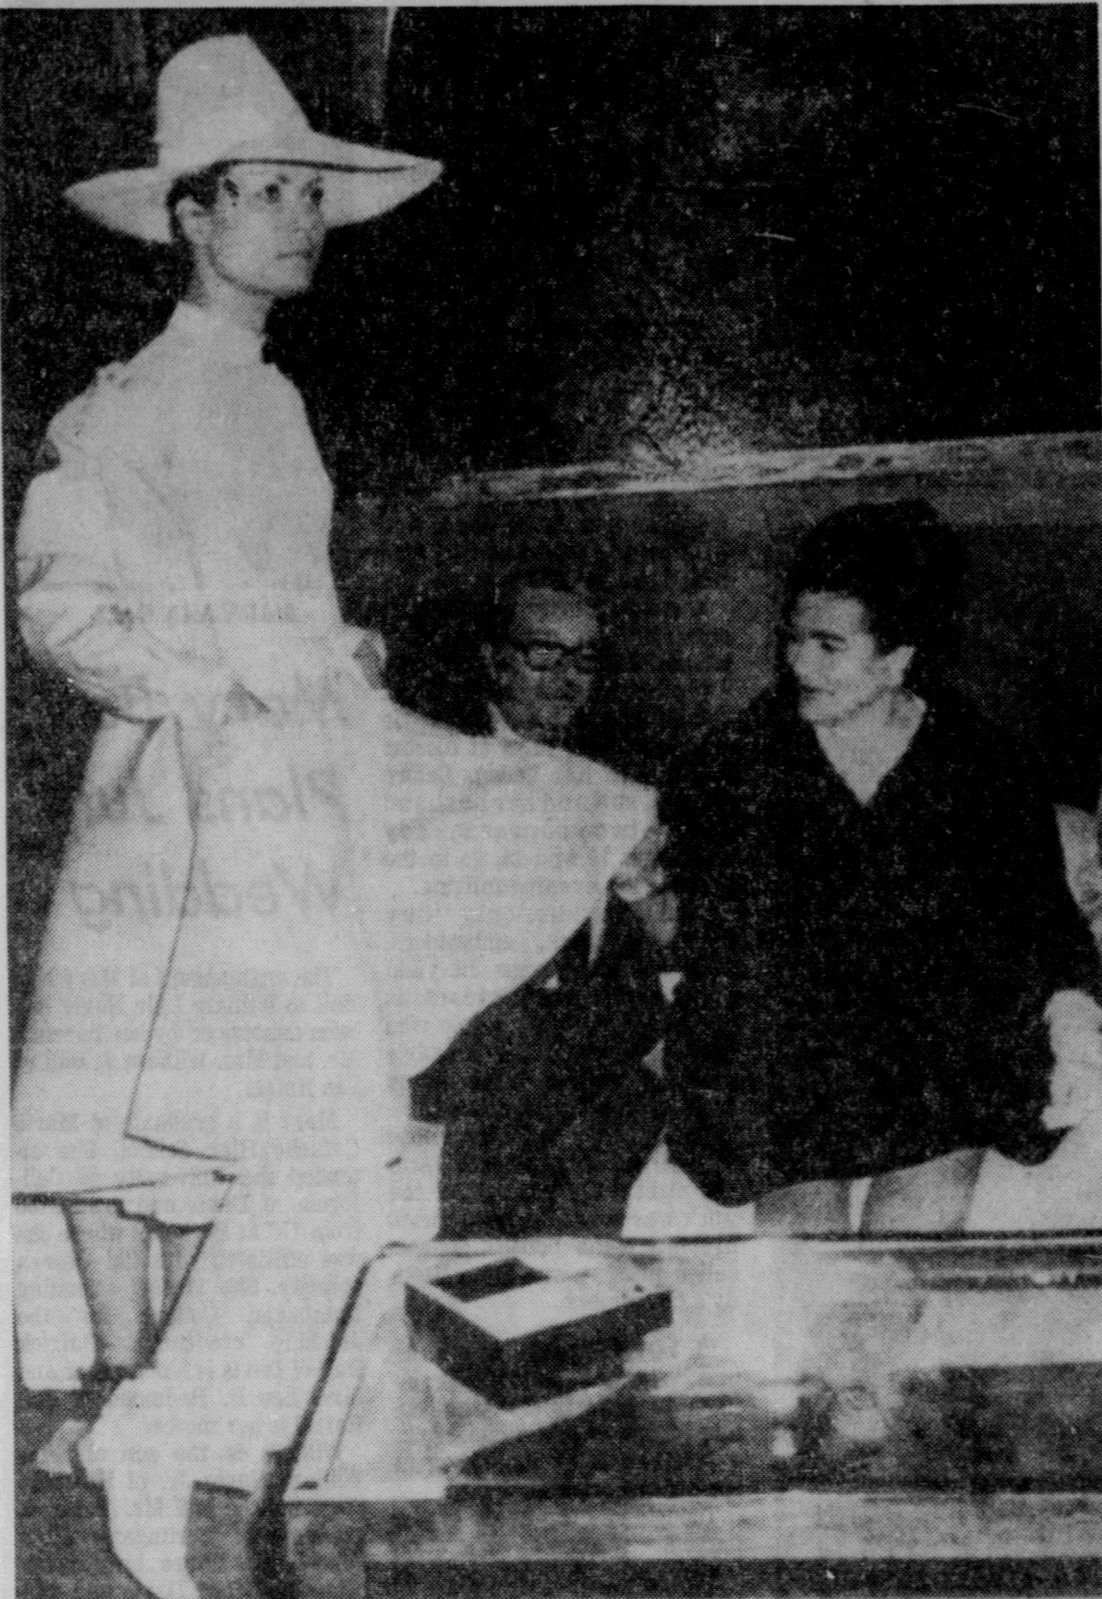

The bridegroom is the son of Col. (USAF-ret.) and Mrs. Richard Stolle of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the brother of Ensign John R. Stolle of New London, Conn.

He is a graduate of Chatsworth High School in Los Angeles and the U.S. Air Force Academy.

'Cats Have Weird Eyebrows'

A poem, "Cats Have Weird Eyebrows," written by Molly Follette, of Sausalito, will appear in the April issue of the American Girl, a magazine for teen-age girls, published by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Molly's poem, appearing on page 15, was chosen from more than 30,000 entries submitted in several categories in the magazine's recent search for the best work of the nation's under-17-year-old writers, poets, artists, photographers and song writers.

Julie Eisenhower Likes The Idea Of David Going Into Politics

Continued from page 13 So sweet and thoughtful to Tricia and me, and he really cares about how we're feeling. He calls us all the time if we're away and wants to cheer us up and make sure everything's going okay."

She also said her dad is "fun to be around," and, citing an example of his sense of humor, she said the President came out on deck with two life preservers when David wanted to try his boating skills at Key Biscayne, Fla., after he received his naval commission.

Julie had these other observations on:

NEW MORALITY — "I understand that more people are living together before they get married and testing their marriage. I think this is an individual decision. I don't think it's a necessary part of getting married. I don't think you have to have this testing period. I think you can be sure."

CAMPUS — "There is so much emphasis on conformity. You had to be involved in a strike; you had to be involved in a fast for peace. There was really belligerence against those who didn't want to be part of this."

WOMEN — "I think women need to have outside interests besides their home. My own feeling is the greatest contribution you can make is to raise your children so that they have happy homes and happy children then wouldn't have problems in the world."

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS — "I would respect them because they had really thought it through and they're willing to stay within the law... by going to jail. But the people I don't respect are those who go to Canada because I think that's really a rationalization. They're saying what they're against... but not willing to face the consequences and change things."

WHITE HOUSE — "I feel that the advantages of being the president's daughter are far greater and all the privileges and the exciting things that happened to us. Really living in the White House is so thrilling..."

POLITICS — "I think you should know you are giving up your basic privacy. It's a reality."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

She Says 'Bricklayin's No Harder Than Housekeepin'

"They said, 'Well if she's gonna work, we have to let her in,'" she recalled, "and since I was workin' for my husband, they couldn't make me quit no way, no-how."

On the job, Mrs. Broady said she's never been kidded or ridiculed because of her occupation, adding that "men in the construction business respect you 10 times as much as men do in a factory."

Several major supermarket chains are experimenting with plastic bags for use at the checkout counter. The test bags are semi-opaque polyethylene. They're supposed to be stronger than paper bags and are said to hold up better against moisture.

SMART SHOPPER

Furniture Guide Designed To Give Buyers More Data

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — If you have ever purchased furniture and found that upholstery or guarantee has fallen short of expectations made for them, you will be interested in a revised set of guides published by the Federal Trade Commission.

The proposed guides do not have the force of law and cannot be enforced by the government agency and they are directed at the industry, not consumers. But they constitute a device that is sometimes more effective than law itself.

The guides on furniture are designed to provide potential buyers with more information than has generally been available on upholstered products. The guides focus principally on textile coverings which have always been exempted from the law requiring disclosure of composition.

Since this part of the guides was printed last year, there has already been some noticeable improvement in the labeling of items called "mohair" and "nylon."

THE GUIDES would stop the labeling of any fabric as "mohair" unless the fibers are derived from the angora goat. And they would bar use of the word "nylon" for the labeling of a blend of nylon and other materials.

Under the proposed guides, advertisements for products containing a mixture of fibers should list each in "order of its predominance by weight." For example: "cotton and nylon."

If a fiber so designated is not present in a substantial quantity (less than 5 percent), the percentage should be stated. For example: "Cotton, rayon, 3% nylon." This part of the guides is aimed at the common use of the term "nylon cover" for furniture coverings with substantial cotton or rayon backing to prevent stretching.

Labels and tags would also have to be more specific under the proposed guides. If one fiber in a mixture is identified, they all must be identified, and their percentages must be given.

Safe Aerosol

Some safety rules to follow in use and storage of aerosol cans: Never leave in the sun, especially in a closed car; never leave on a warm surface, such as a stove; never incinerate or puncture a can. Treat the spray can with the respect you would any explosive device.

en. Example: "55% cotton, 45% rayon."

AND IF THE makeup of the product's face is different from that of the back, the difference must be disclosed.

Another section of the guides is aimed at the practice of claiming a product is "performance tested" without having been tested. If such a claim is made, say the guides, the detailed test results must be disclosed.

Warranty and guarantees would also be clarified if the guides are eventually adopted by the agency and heeded by the industry. At present, no furniture manufacturer will stand behind any guarantee involving a fabric because the mills themselves won't do so.

The FTC would change this with an implied warranty that the products "are fit for the ordinary purposes for which they are used." For upholstered furniture, says the FTC, this would include "a warranty of the durability, colorfastness and suitability of the outer covering under normal conditions of reasonable use for a reasonable period of time."

High School Senior Girls Will Be Guests At Panhellenic's Tea

Senior girls and their mothers from Petaluma, Rancho Cotati, San Antonio and St. Vincent de Paul shigh schools have been invited by Petaluma Panhellenic Association to its annual tea and fashion show Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. at Petaluma High School.

Each year 10 college coeds, graduates of local high schools, are asked to return and model clothes from their own closets to depict what is "in" on each particular campus. Commentating this year's show will be Miss Terri Brazil, a home economics major at Chico State College.

Miss Jeanne Solomon, a Petaluma High School graduate who is now a junior at the University of California, will give a resume of her campus experiences. A member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, she is now head pompon girl at U.C.

An innovation this year will be informal discussion groups following Miss Solomon's talk led by those girls modeling. There will be a separate section for mothers attending.

Mrs. Ray Johnson, chairman of the fashion show, will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas Gafey. Mrs. John Dado, Panhellenic president, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Other committee chairmen are Mmes. James Eastburn, William Anderson, George De Long, John King Jr., Albert Battaglia, Joseph Horner, Robert Mackey, Samuel Brown, George Gillmore, James Morehead and William Thorsen.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Malcolm Burnett and Mrs. De Long.

"WE'VE ONLY just begun" is the theme for the spring dance to be sponsored by the Novato Boys Club Auxiliary at 9 p.m., Saturday, at the Novato Community House.

Mrs. Robert Bourdet, chairman of the dance, said the theme reflects the determination of the auxiliary to help build a boys club for Novato. Mrs. Conrad Eustace is chairman for the late evening food bar.

Ed Ryken will be master of ceremonies. Other committee chairmen are Mmes. Dave Milano, decorations; Robert Musante, publicity and Tom Rosen, tickets.

YOUNG ARTIST

Experiments With Creativity

By SANDRA YOUNG

The monsters created by a 14-year-old Ross boy would rival any to be seen in the wildest of nightmares — except his are tame and can be held in the palm of a hand.

Donald Brown, an eighth grader at Ross Grammar School, puts the monsters his mind conjures up onto paper or into a mold. They are kept without cages in his room at 95 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

But drawing monsters is not Don's claim to fame. His artistic talent recently came to the public's attention when he began drawing posters for the Ross After School Community Recreation Program's Movie Festival.

Each week, a poster depicting the movie was displayed in front of the Ross Post Office and, according to school officials, "The reaction of the citizenry was tremendous."

The Ross School Student Council plans to auction the posters this spring.

Sitting behind the desk in his room, surrounded by his creations, the slender six-footer who made the Marin County All-Star basketball team this year quietly worked on one of his paintings the other day.

The colorful artwork displayed on the walls revealed a variety of gruesome creatures, in all shapes and sizes.

One noticeable similarity among many of the monsters is the abundance of slanted eyes and long, sharp fingernails. The eyes appear most anywhere on the unhuman-like forms and the fingernails, which look like elongated claws, are usually out of proportion to the rest of the body.

As to the repetitious use of eyes and fingernails, Don explained simply, "I just like drawing them."

Besides painting pictures of monsters, Don uses papier-mache to make molds of the creatures' heads. After the cast sets, he paints the heads bright, psychedelic colors using a fluorescent paint that glows under a special black light, giving the monsters a truly eerie quality.

Art books providing instructions are getting dusty on his bookshelves.

"I've found out almost everything I know about art by experimenting, not through books," said the dark-haired boy.

His ideas come to him at odd times: "Like when I'm watching television or studying or walking. If I'm trying to think up an idea, it just never comes," Don declared, adding that it was a frustrating experience.

Many of his monsters begin as doodles and as many end up in the wastebasket.

"Don's a perfectionist," says his mother, Louella Brown.

ABSORBING WORK — Finishing touches go on one of the "monsters" created by Donald Brown, an eighth grade student at Ross

Grammar School. The 14-year-old boy makes the papier-mache heads and, after painting one, uses it as an incense burner.

"He's never satisfied with his work."

Mrs. Brown said Don began drawing "things" as soon as he could hold a pencil.

"But he's never let us frame anything," she added, with a disappointed smile. "He's modest. He doesn't think his work is good enough."

Don, who has no future plans for his artwork, considers it "a hobby, a way to relax." He often picks up his pad and pencil while watching television.

Don's father, Robert M. Brown, is proud of his son's creativity, but is quick to point to the poor grades Don has received in art classes in school.

"We've always laughed about that," he chuckled.

Don, a B-average student, also writes what he calls "out of sight" science fiction stories.

But, so far, he hasn't used any of his "monsters" to illustrate any of the stories.

MUSIC REVIEW

Sensational Flutist Charms Marin Audience

Flutist Michel Debost and pianist Christian Ivaldi, two young French musicians, brought the 11th annual Candlelight Concert series to a brilliant close last night in Mill Valley.

Packed to capacity, Brown's Hall, with its lack of ventilation and small size, no longer is adequate to accommodate the crowds drawn by the reputation of this series sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association. Hopefully, some other place can be made available by next season.

Having played together 11 years, Debost, first flutist with the Paris Conservatory Orchestra and a renowned soloist, and Ivaldi, a professor at the Paris Conservatoire National, are a well matched pair.

Their balance, however, was not always perfect owing to the domination of the piano in some loud passages. This may have been due to difficulties in adapting to the very small stage, for Ivaldi certainly proved he was capable of playing with the utmost delicacy.

Playing a 100-year-old Louis Lot flute that is the equivalent of a Stradivarius, Debost had a phenomenal breath control that made possible the longest sustained pianissimo notes I have ever heard on a flute. Also amazing was the fluency of his technique in producing flights and cascades of notes at high speed while still maintaining a variety of tonal color.

His tonal quality was pure silver, whether fine spun and ethereal or brilliant, except for a few instances in which it was piercing at full volume.

Ivaldi's piano had a clear, bell-like quality and clean articulation. An identical feeling for phrasing contributed to rapport between the two musicians.

The duo's opening number, a Hindemith sonata, was rather dry, except for the last movement, but that was more a characteristic of the work and the composer's style than the performers' fault.

A sheer delight was the second number, the introduction and variations, Opus 161, by Schubert on the theme "Ihr Blumlein Alle," and a special favorite of mine because of the affinity of the flute for Debussy's music, was Debost's unaccompanied playing of that composer's hauntingly plaintive "Syrinx."

Other numbers performed were three airs on popular themes from Beethoven's Opus 105 and 107, and Bartok's "Hungarian Peasant" suite, which was both playful and brilliant and made an excellent finale. MPS.

Tonys For 'Sleuth,' 'Company'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The silver anniversary of the Broadway theater's annual Tony Awards Sunday night brought best play honors to "Sleuth" by England's Anthony Shaffer and best musical laurels to "Company."

Winners in 19 categories of nominees were revealed before an audience of 1,350 in the Palace Theater during a two-hour nationally colorcast program on ABC-TV. They were decided by secret balloting by some 450 persons connected with the stage in one way or the other.

"Company" easily won the most Tonys. Harold Prince received two of the silver medallions as producer of the best musical and as best director of a musical. Stephen Sondheim picked up two more as composer and lyricist, George Furth scored as the librettist and Boris Aronson was honored as best scenic designer.

Four Tonys were won by persons connected with the current revival of the 47-year-old musical, "No, No, Nanette." Helen Gallagher won as best actress in a musical, Donald Saddler as choreographer, Raoul Pene du Bois as costume designer and Patsy Kelly as supporting actress.

Honors for players in starring roles of plays went to Brian Bedford for "The School for Wives" and Maureen Stapleton of "The Gingerbread Lady."

Hal Linden of "The Rothschilds" was the musical star winner.

Winners in other categories were:

Supporting actor, play — Paul Sand, "Story Theater."

Supporting actress, play — Rae Allen, "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little."

Supporting actor, musical — Keene Curtis, "The Rothschilds."

Director, play — Peter Brook, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Lighting designer — R.H. Poindexter, "Story Theater."

Watts, Ozawa Electrify Fans In Marin Symphony Concert

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Lightning flashed from the fingers of pianist Andre Watts, and there was thunder, too, in his tempestuous performance Saturday night of the third Rachmaninoff Concerto with Seiji Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony.

The capacity audience in the Terra Linda High School Gymnasium jumped to its feet at the end almost like a single person in tumultuous acclaim.

Part of this response could be credited to the virtuosity demanded by this romantic work written by a great pianist to dazzle an audience, but Watts and Ozawa never lost sight of true musical values. They are kindred spirits, and I have never seen a soloist more aware of both conductor and orchestra while still playing the leading role.

There was more excitement in their reading than in the last performance I heard by Rachmaninoff himself — probably because of the vast difference in the soloists' temperaments. Rachmaninoff — immobile and austere in presence — played with controlled, logical intensity, whereas Watts' display of creative energy was explosive in his own unique interpretation. Which style one prefers probably depends on one's own temperament.

Having heard Watts at the age of 16 about six years ago in his first nationwide appearance with the New York Philharmonic in the telecast of a Leonard Bernstein young people's concert, I was fascinated to find that Watts at 22 has reached maturity as one of the top masters today of the romantic piano repertoire.

Adulation of Ozawa has become a near cult — so great is the power of his charisma to electrify people of all ages, added to his enormous musical gifts. This was evident when the audience started cheering even at the opening number, the light and frothy overture to Rossini's opera "La Gazza Ladra." It was beautifully performed, especially in showing off the nimbleness of the violins, but one felt the acclaim was a personal tribute to Ozawa.

A third individual performance of note was that of the orchestra's principal violist, Rolf Persinger of Tiburon, who played the solo part of the orchestra's major symphonic piece of the evening, Berlioz's "Harold In Italy."

Though Persinger seemed strangely ill at ease during the time he was not playing — perhaps because these times were frequent since the work is not a viola concerto — he played for the most part with his usual technical skill. He had the warmth of tone so necessary to the instrument and to the solo part representing "the melancholy dreamer" in the style of Bryon's "Childe Harold." Especially lovely in the first movement were the harp (Anne Adams) and Viola Passages.

Ozawa created vivid pictures of this musical journey through the Italian countryside, highlighted by both lyrical experiences, such as the "March of the Pilgrims" singing the evening hymn and "The Serenade of an Abruzzi mountaineer to his Mistress," and the dramatic one of the "Orgy of Brigands." In the finale, Ozawa used all the resources of the orchestra, building them into one of the great climaxes for which he is famous.

Almost sold out several weeks ago was this third concert in the orchestra's Marin series, and the same is true already of the final concert on May 22.

Can there be any doubt of the huge appreciation of symphonic music in Marin? Watch it double when the Veterans Auditorium opens on Sept. 25 with the Marin Symphony.

South Seas To Be Film Topic

The seventh in a series of Explorama travel films, "South Sea Holiday," will be shown at 8:15 p.m. April 19 at San Rafael High School.

Nicol Smith will narrate the film, shot in Fiji, Western Samoa and Tonga. It includes a Marau war dance, fire walking, deep sea fishing, underwater photography, shots of a flying fox that is 30 inches long and an unusual parade with 8,000 children.

Smith has written five books about his travels in the remote parts of the world.

CLOSE COMPANY — Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., sped through a turn and increased his lead over Scotland's Jackie Stewart yesterday in the second and final heat of the Questor Grand Prix at Ontario Motor Speedway. Andretti finished first, Stewart second.

Questor Grand Prix Win For Andretti's Ferrari

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—The question has been officially settled America's Formula A cars aren't in the same class with Europe's prestigious Formula 1 car machines.

Diminutive Mario Andretti, the famous Italian immigrant, said there was never any question as far as he was concerned.

"There's no question they have the edge and I think they're going to keep it," Andretti said Sunday after driving his swift Ferrari 312-B to an impressive victory in the inaugural Questor Grand Prix.

The $288,900 event over Ontario's 3.2-mile road course was billed as the United States vs. Europe. The 31-year-old winner from Nazareth, Pa., said it was a mismatch from the day the promoters dreamed up the race.

"It wasn't fair to compare the U.S. against Europe in this race," Andretti offered. "Our boys didn't have a chance. No way. Put the Unser boys (Al and Bobby) and A.J. (Foyt) in a Formula 1 and give them time. They'll do some racing."

in the starting field of 30, Ron Grable of Mountain View, Calif., turned in the top finish—seventh—in a Lola-Chevrolet.

Winner of the South African Grand Prix for Ferrari March 6, Andretti walked off with $38,250 after starting the day in 12th place. Because of an accident in practice Wednesday and a commitment to run a USAC race at Phoenix, Ariz. during the weekend, he was able to run but 10 qualifying laps Saturday. Andretti won the first 100-mile heat by 3.4 seconds over pole sitter Jackie Stewart of Scotland. In the second 100-mile heat, the 1969 Indianapolis winner and three-time USAC champion started first and there wasn't any question. He whipped the field by 12.2 seconds with Stewart again runner-up.

"I had a handling advantage," the happy veteran said with a wide grin. "In fact, I never drove a car that handled so well."

That had to be surprising since his racer was badly damaged Wednesday. Andretti credited his Ferrari crew with a super patchup job.

Averaging 109.690 for 200 miles, Andretti caught Stewart's Tyrrell-Ford two laps from the finish line in the initial heat.

In the second 100 miles, it was a matter of finishing instead of catching up. Andretti said his blood-red Ferrari developed problems with 20 laps to go.

"The engine started misfiring. I was pulling 11,000 revs instead of 12,000. I might have dropped a valve. I was really worried."

For finishing second overall, Stewart earned $25,250. Denis Hulme of New Zealand was third overall in his McLaren Ford for a $17,400 payoff.

Another New Zealander, Chris Amon, was fourth overall in a Matra-Simca and Australia's Tim Schenken came in fifth in a Brabham-Ford.

Dave "Swede" Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., suffered head injuries when his Eagle-Plymouth slammed into the wall on turn nine on lap 12 in the first heat. He was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital where his condition was listed as fair.

A crowd of 68,825 turned out to see the fourth major event in the short history of the $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway. The speedway opened with the California 500 last September.

NCAA BASKETBALL CHAMPS

Bruins Turn Attention To Draft

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sidney Wicks, Steve Patterson and Curtis Rowe—who completed near perfect collegiate careers Saturday by winning their third straight and leading UCLA to its fifth straight NCAA championship turned their attention to today's National Basketball Association's annual draft.

The talented trio, who paced UCLA past Villanova 68-62 in the title game, already have been drafted by the Texas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association, but were waiting on the NBA draft and a possible bonus bidding war.

"Whoever pays the most will get me," the 6-7 Rowe said. "I don't care where I play, just how much money I get. If the money were right, I'd play in Canada."

"I'd be stupid if I didn't wait and see what the NBA did," Wicks said.

The Cleveland Cavaliers indicated an interest in making the 6-8 all-American and two-time NCAA all-tournament player their No. 1 selection. Someone asked Wicks about 7-2 Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville signing a $2.7 million contract with Kentucky of the ABA.

"I look at that this way," Wicks said. "I don't think Gilmore could have gotten more than $2.7 million anywhere."

Patterson, a 6-9, 217-pounder, improved his pro chances by scoring 29 points, the highest of his career, in the championship game. He hit 13 of 18 shots, many from outside, and that kind of shooting could make him valuable as a forward in the pros.

Howard Porter of Villanova, the most outstanding player in the NCAA tournament, had to sign an affidavit saying he was not committed to a pro contract before the final game.

"There is nothing to it," Porter said. "I haven't signed with any one. I'll go with the best offer — NBA or ABA. If the money is not right, I'll go to graduate school."

But officials with the ABA's Pittsburgh Condors said Porter has come to terms and would sign with the club in public ceremonies today.

Jim McDaniels, who scored 36 points in leading Western Kentucky to third place with a 77-75 victory over Kansas, was offered $2.2 million by the Carolina Cougars of the ABA, a Louisville paper reported. He was drafted by Utah, but Carolina apparently had acquired the rights to him.

The 7-foot McDaniels, who led all NCAA tournament scorers with 147 points and made the all-tournament team with Patterson, Wicks, Porter and Villanova's Hank Siemionkowski, said he had not given his pro career any serious consideration.

"I don't have any preference between the leagues," McDaniels said. "I'll go where the money is. They both pay you to put the ball in the basket and it doesn't matter to me whether it is a brown ball (NBA) or a red, white and blue one (ABA)."

But he indicated his price would be high.

"Gilmore got a lot of bread and we beat Jacksonville twice," McDaniels said.

Siemionkowski, a junior, said he was not going to sign early as did Spencer Haywood, Ralph Simpson and Johnny Neumann. "I'll guarantee you I'll be back at Villanova next year," the 6-7 Siemionkowski said.

Can't Keep Monroe On Sidelines

By United Press International

The Baltimore Bullets are holding their National Basketball Association title hopes together today with a couple of yards of tape, foam rubber, pills and pain-killing injections.

But as long as there's life left in Earl Monroe, he's a dangerous man on a basketball court. And that makes Baltimore dangerous.

Monroe was taken to the dressing room in shock, not even knowing who he was, from the pain in his side Sunday after a collision, but he came back to score 23 of his 29 points in the second half and lead the Bullets to a 111-103 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers in the Eastern Division playoffs.

In other games Sunday, the Chicago Bulls, playing without coach Dick Motta and star guard Jerry Sloan after they were thrown out of the game, rallied in the fourth quarter to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 106-98, and Walt Frazier finished with 29 points with a wild second half spurge to lead the New York Knicks to a 110-95 win over Atlanta.

Baltimore, Los Angeles and New York each has a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series. Milwaukee, holding a 1-0 lead, hosts San Francisco tonight in the only playoff action.

Gottlieb And Carter Win Bowling Honors

Paul Gottlieb of San Rafael and Walter W. Carter of San Anselmo Saturday night were inducted into the Marin County Bowling Association's Hall of Fame at an awards dance at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

The veteran bowlers were cited for their long and meritorious service to local bowling—Carter primarily for his duties as treasurer of the MCBA since its inception in 1948 and Gottlieb "for his bowling accomplishments over the years," according to MCBA Secretary Dick Treadway. Each man received a plaque.

The Hall of Fame was started last year with the late Clay Anderson, long-time MCBA secretary, the only previous inductee.

Carter, 62, is an insurance broker and Gottlieb, 69, a bartender.

Carter's current blue book bowling average per game is 180 at Greenbrae Lanes.

Gottlieb is averaging about 177 at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael and Nave Lanes near Ignacio. In his prime, when he managed the old Marin Bowl in San Rafael in the late 1940s, Gottlieb averaged 206 and had a perfect 300 game to his credit in addition to numerous tournament championships.

Miss Hislop took a second and a third to go with her wins in the 100 backstroke and the 100 free in the 15-17 class. Miss Hughes, swimming in the 13-14 class, won the 100 backstroke.

The host club placed fifth in the team standings, led by April Swanson in girls' 9-10.

The other Marin County team entered, the Novato Aquanauts, got a first place in the 100 breast from Ann Haley in girls 13-14.

Denise Ham In Triple Swim Win

Denise Ham, fresh from a victory last week in the Southern California Senior Invitational, took the overall point title yesterday to lead the Marin Aquatic Club to a second place finish behind powerful Santa Clara at the Petaluma Swim Club's Class AA, AAU age group swimming meet.

Santa Clara was an easy winner with 888½ points, while MAC took six first places and 323½ points. Miss Ham finished first three times, Joe Hislop twice and Kim Hughes once for Marin.

Miss Ham, who won the 200 meter breaststroke in Long Beach last week, took that event plus the 400 individual medley and the 200-yard butterfly at Petaluma, and also garnered three second places to grab the girls' high point trophy.

Monday blasted a home run Saturday to help Oakland snap a five-game exhibition losing streak by beating the Padres 9-2 at Yuma. Monday also singled in two runs in the third inning Sunday to give the A's a 4-1 lead over San Diego.

The A's had scored twice in the first inning when Campaneris singled and scored on Jackson's double. Sal Bando drove in Jackson with a single.

Warriors Get Second Shot At Powerful Bucks Tonight

Playoffs Move To Madison

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Oscar Robertson is shooting more and the San Francisco Warriors are enjoying it less.

If it wasn't for the hot shooting of the veteran guard, it might well be that the Warriors instead of the Milwaukee Bucks would be carrying a 1-0 edge tonight into the second of their best-of-seven NBA playoff series at the University of Wisconsin field-house.

Tonight's game will be televised on Channel 2, beginning at 6 p.m.

Robertson hit 14 of 23 shots from the field and picked up the slack when 7-2 center Lew Alcindor was rested with four personal late in the third quarter to lead the Bucks over the Warriors 107-96 at Oakland Saturday night. Robertson finished with a game-high 31 points, including 10 in the final period which started with the Bucks on top by five.

"I want him to shoot more than he has," said Milwaukee coach Larry Costello. "Oscar should always take 20 to 25 shots a game."

Even Robertson, a 6-5 guard winding up his 11th season in the NBA, admits he was looking for the basket more than usual.

"I shot because of Lew's foul trouble," said the "Big O." "We didn't get the ball into him too often and so someone had to take up the slack."

Robertson hit his first six attempts in the game and connected on seven of eight to help the Bucks to a 58-52 halftime lead. During the second period, the Bucks watched a 50-33 lead dwindle to six as the Warriors erupted with a 19-8 spurt.

Coach Al Attles of the Warriors figures the game was lost when the Warriors managed to hit on only 8 of 21 shots from the floor in the final period as the Bucks outscored them 26-20.

"This may be as well as we've played this year," said Attles. "But when Oscar decides to take charge, you're in trouble."

"Some people expected us to get beat by 20 or 30 points. Naturally, I'm disappointed but we did a good job."

Guard Jeff Mullins topped the Warriors with 15 points in each half for a total of 30. He connected on 12 of 25 shots.

It was a bruising battle between the team's big men—Alcindor and 6-11 Nate Thurmond.

Alcindor tallied 25 points, about six off his NBA-leading average. He was benched for about 10 minutes after picking up his fourth foul. Thurmond scored 19 and outrebounded the taller Alcindor 15-10.

"This was the most physical game I've ever played against Lew," said Thurmond. "The big thing now is that we're playing for money."

Alcindor nodded in agreement.

Right Time For A's To Error

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—Hopefully, the Oakland Athletics are getting the bad fielding and pitching out of their systems in the Arizona desert.

Shortstop Bert Campaneris committed four errors and the San Diego Padres pounced on relievers Gil Marcano and Bob Locker for three runs in the seventh inning Sunday to beat the A's 6-4.

That gave the A's an 8-13 record in Cactus League play going into today's game against the Padres at Mesa.

Rollie Fingers became the first Oakland pitcher to go nine innings Saturday. Rick Monday broke out of a mild spring slump over the weekend and Reggie Jackson continued his hot hitting to give A's manager Dick Williams a few rays of extra sunshine.

Monday blasted a home run Saturday to help Oakland snap a five-game exhibition losing streak by beating the Padres 9-2 at Yuma. Monday also singled in two runs in the third inning Sunday to give the A's a 4-1 lead over San Diego.

The A's had scored twice in the first inning when Campaneris singled and scored on Jackson's double. Sal Bando drove in Jackson with a single.

WHAT A RELIEF — Gary Player of South Africa tipped his hat to the crowd yesterday enroute to winning his second PGA event in a row — the National Airlines Open in Miami. Player came in at 14-under-par to win the $40,000 first place prize.

Carr And Wicks 1st In Draft Two Wins In Row For Gary Player

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Cleveland Cavaliers, who tied a professional basketball record for most losses in a season, began their rebuilding program at the guard position Monday by selecting 6-3 Austin Carr of Notre Dame to open the 1971 National Basketball Association's college player draft.

Carr, the UPI player of the Year for 1971, averaged 37.9 points per game in this season to finish second among the nation's scorers.

The Cavaliers, who lost 67 games this season to tie the record set by San Diego in 1967-68, earned the right to draft first by winning a coin toss from the Portland Trail Blazers.

Portland, drafting second, went for 6-8 forward Sidney Wicks of UCLA. Wicks, who paced the Bruins to their fifth consecutive NCAA championship this year, averaged 22 points a game this season while leading the Bruins in both scoring and rebounding.

MIAMI (UPI)—Gary Player—five feet, eight inches of wire dressed in black—has a chance to become the first golfer to win three tournaments in a row since Arnold Palmer did it way back in 1962.

Player charged through the middle holes in the final round of the $200,000 National Airlines Open golf tournament Sunday to win it by two strokes over Lee Trevino.

A week ago, Player won the Greater Jacksonville Open in a playoff with Hal Underwood and next week he plays in the Greater Greensboro, N.C., Open, where he is defending champion.

But Player, although he admits to consistency, isn't optimistic about his chances next week.

"I have too much respect for the game and for the competition," he said. He added he would feel better if the fairways were shorter and the holes longer on the Greensboro course.

And if he wins next week, he's even more pessimistic about winning the Masters for his fourth straight—which would be a first in tour golf.

"That's a Jack Nicklaus benefit when you leave it so wide open," he said, referring to the long-hitting PGA champion and the wide fairways on the Augusta, Ga., course.

Altogether, the 160-pound South African believes four, or even three, wins in a row are "expecting a bit too much, the way things are today."

But he won two in a row for the first time since Palmer won the Heritage Classic and the Danny Thomas Open in December of 1969.

"I think it's time for him to go home," quipped runnerup Trevino after playing the final round with Player on the par 72, 6,970-yard Country Club of Miami course.

Player beat Trevino by two strokes with a 68 to Trevino's 69 in the final round. Player went into the round a stroke ahead of Trevino and finished with a 14-under-par 274, two

INTIMIDATING FIGURE

UCLA's All-American Sidney Wicks looked ferocious as he snatched a rebound during the NCAA championship game against Villanova in the Houston

Astrodome Saturday. Looking on apprehensively were Clarence Smith (44) and Hank Siemkowski (32) of Villanova. UCLA won 68-62.

Warriors Get Veteran Barnett

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors have surrendered three future draft choices to strengthen its backcourt by acquiring 6-4 Jim Barnett from the Portland Trail Blazers over the weekend. All indications point to selection of a forward or center by the Warriors in today's draft in the NBA. San Francisco gave up its second and third draft choices this year and a draft choice next year to obtain the 26-year-old former University of Oregon star. Barnett, who averaged 18.5 points last season, has a 13.3 scoring average during his five seasons in the NBA.

Oregon St. Romps Past San Jose St.

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Minus its usual stable of sprinters, San Jose State was easy game for Oregon State in a dual track meet Saturday. Robert Medlock won the 100, 220 and ran a leg on the Beavers' winning 440 relay team as Oregon State piled up 92 points to 62 for the Spartans.

Cadets Triumph

Tom Kewell went all the way on the mound and allowed just eight hits in leading San Rafael Military Academy to a 6-4 victory over Tomales High School Saturday in a non-league baseball game at Tomales.

Al Unser Beats Bob At Phoenix

PHOENIX (UPI)—Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., and his brother Bobby finished 1-2 Saturday in the 150-mile Jimmy Bryan U.S. Auto Club race.

Bobby led on 102 of the 150 laps. Al took over the lead from his brother on the 140th lap and never lost it to win the event for the second year in a row.

Driving a Johnny Lightning 500 Special, Al Unser earned $11,242 and boosted his Marlboro championship point total to 900, a lead of 270 over second place Lloyd Ruby.

Seals' Goalies Blasted

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—On the television show "Laugh In," goalies Gary Smith and Chris Worthy of the California Golden Seals would be runaway winners of the Vezina Trophy.

But in the real-life nitty gritty of the National Hockey League, they would more likely be recipients of the Sieve Award. The Vezina Trophy actually goes to the stingiest goalie in the NHL, thus making Smith and Worthy ineligible because of their team's generosity.

Vancouver, an expansion club, peppered the Seals goalies unmercifully in a Sunday matinee to emerge with an 11-5 victory.

It was the most goals given up this season by the Seals and the most scored by the Canucks in their first NHL season.

Forward Wayne Maki scored a three-goal hat trick for the Canucks who hold a 4-1-0 edge over the Seals with one game remaining between the clubs. Maki scored in each period to raise his season's total to 21. Garry Jarrett, Tony Featherstone, Mike Laughton, Doug Roberts and Don O'Donoghue scored for California. It was Laughton's first goal this season in 23 games and came on a power play in the second period.

California coach Fred Glover yanked starting goalie Smith after defenseman Dale Tallon gave Vancouver a 6-2 lead midway through the second period. But Worthy didn't fare much better as the Canucks broke open the game with five goals in the middle period to take a 7-3 lead into the final 20 minutes.

While compiling a 2-8-2 record so far during March, the Seals' goalies have allowed 72 goals in the 12 games, or exactly double the goals scored by the Seals during that period. Averaged out, that gives the Seals' foes a 6-3 edge in goals scored each game this month.

Continued from page 17 strokes in front of the flamboyant Mexican-American. Young Jerry McGee, a native of the Ohio hill country, shot a six-under-par 66 including a blistering first-nine 31 for 277 and third place. Charles Coody and Australian Bruce Crampton were another stroke back at 278.

Palmer fired a 69 for 279 and Jack Nicklaus is spending these two weeks preparing for the Masters.

Player started slowly, sinking a birdie on the second hole on a 25-foot putt but three-putting for a bogey on the fourth. But then he strung birdies on the eighth, ninth and 10th and on the 14th, 15th and 16th.

Indiana Swimmers Take Fourth Straight Title

SPORTS SHORTS

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Indiana, with a spectacular display of depth and team work, has captured its fourth straight NCAA swimming title, racking up 351 points during the three day weekend meet. Gary Hall, Indiana's All-American swimmer who set three American records in the 48th annual NCAA swimming and diving championships, said he valued his team's victory greater than any mark he ever established.

Hall's three records came in the 200-yard and 400-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke. In all, 10 American and 14 meet records were set, with Indiana claiming four American and seven meet records.

USC was runner up in the team standings for the third straight year. USC defeated Arthur Ashe in the $50,000 Sportface International tennis tournament. Newcombe beat Ashe 4-6, 7-6, 6-2 in final play Sunday. The top-seeded Australian picked up $10,000 for the victory, while Ashe, second-seeded in the tourney, got $5,000.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—An All-California final was set up Sunday night when Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., defeated Australian Ken Rosewall in the second round of the Ned Doyle Tennis Classic.

Ralston will meet Bob Lutz of Los Angeles in the winner-take-all $5,000 final Wednesday night.

North Carolina Is NIT Champion

NEW YORK (UPI) —When observers predicted a Southern team would win the National Invitational Basketball Tournament, they weren't just whistling "Dixie."

North Carolina was an Atlantic Coast Conference powerhouse that had that old Northern shuttle service line going strong. It previously brought Billy Cunningham and Doug Moe down south from New York and three years ago carried Bill Chamberlain to Chapel Hill.

Chamberlain narrowed his selection to two schools — Princeton and North Carolina and the Tar Heels won out.

The 6-foot-6 Chamberlain, a junior, had his greatest day as a collegian Saturday when he scored a career high 34 points that led North Carolina to an 84-66 victory over Georgia Tech in the NIT title game.

It was a case of Chamberlain's offense and a Tar Heel defense that kept Tech star Rich Yunkus to a career low of 10 points.

It was Chamberlain who provided the steam for the Carolina Choo-Choo, scoring 10 straight points and 15 overall in a 19-point Tar Heel surge that carried his club into a runaway 12-point lead and earned him the MVP award.

North Carolina opened the game mindful of the 29-point victory the Tar Heels scored over Georgia Tech in Charlotte, N.C. earlier this year. The Engineers held Carolina to a one-point lead at halftime of that game, but then the dam burst and Georgia Tech was inundated by the Tar Heels' second half scoring strike.

This time, N.C. led by four points at intermission, 44-40 as Bob Murphy and Tommy Wilson led Tech with 15 points apiece in the first half. A testimony to Carolina's strong defense was the fact Murphy and Wilson scored only four points each in the second half.

Chamberlain turned the game around as he hit on nine of 10 shots from the field in the second half. Using excellent body control, Chamberlain twisted his way through the Tech defense for the layups that killed the Engineers' title hopes.

St. Bonaventure rallied from a 16-point halftime deficit to defeat Duke, 92-88 in overtime for third place. Greg Gary led the Bonnies with 20 points, while Richie O'Connor scored a game-high 30 for Duke.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Don't delay at the approach. Most bowlers who stand around at the foul line after their ball hits the pins aren't aware that they are annoying the men on adjoining lanes. But that doesn't make their habit less bothersome. Do your celebrating or grumbling back at the bench.

Kerry Gets Its Revenge In Football

Kerry, 22 times the champions of Irish football, gained a 13-9 revenge victory over the Rest of Ireland All-Stars yesterday to end the teams' exhibition in San Francisco for this year.

A crowd of around 6,000 at Balboa Stadium watched Mick O'Dwyer, the game's most valuable player, kick in eight points to lead the victory of the Gaelic champs over the combined talent of seven Irish counties. But O'Dwyer wasn't around at the end. He suffered a slight head injury in a crash to the turf with 10 minutes left in the game and had to be helped to the sidelines.

Both teams leave today for the Emerald Isle with the assurances that the exhibition will be played here next year again around St. Patrick's Day.

Donaldson Defeated In Finals

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Ken Donaldson of Novato, a sophomore at the Air Force Academy, reached the finals but then lost to one of three wrestlers who took individual titles to bring Oklahoma State the 1971 NCAA championship Saturday night.

Donaldson, a graduate of Novato High School whose twin brother Kirt was eliminated earlier in the championship round, was defeated by Yoshiro Sujita in the 126-pound class. Defending champion Dwayne Keller, also of Oklahoma State, had moved up a class to make room for Yoshiro, but was defeated by Oregon State's Roger Weigel.

The victory for the Cowboys ended a two year domination by big eight conference rival Iowa State.

The Cowboys compiled 94 points to 66 for Iowa State, 44 for Michigan State and 43 each for Oregon State and Penn State. Oklahoma had 39 points, Lehigh 32, Washington 30, Cal Poly 27, Navy and Portland State 26 each, Ohio 24 and Air Force 21.

One of the surprise winners for Oklahoma State, which has now won the NCAA crown 27 times in its 41-year history, was Darrell Keller, who defeated Larry Owings of Washington in the 142-pound class.

Keller, chosen outstanding wrestler of the tourney, moved up from the 134-pound class this year to challenge Owings, the defending champion. Owings had been most outstanding wrestler in the 1970 meet.

Oklahoma State's other individual title went to Geoff Baum, who beat Al Nacin of Iowa State in the 177-pound finals.

Iowa State was the only other team to win more than one individual championship as Carl Adams captured the 158-pound title and Ben Peterson won the 190-pound trophy.

Softballers Win S.F. Invitational Tournament

Petaluma's Joe Nystrom tossed a two-hitter yesterday as Suburban Auto of San Rafael topped San Mateo 3-0 to win the San Francisco Invitational Softball Tournament.

Suburban Auto — formerly Paul Koss Supply of San Francisco but now, along with the Sohner Tree Service, representing Marin County in "A" softball action — won the tournament by sweeping three straight games.

Suburban Auto opened Saturday with a 2-1 squeaker over Hayward and then moved into the finals with a 7-5 win over Connection of San Francisco.

Larkspur's Mike Martin provided the difference in the championship games when he lined a two-run single in the first inning.

Suburban Auto, now 5-0 for the season, meets Quinella of Santa Rosa tomorrow night and then hosts Concord for a doubleheader Saturday night.

Novato Lad Is Lacrosse Headliner

Marshall Roe of Novato High School led a Northern California Lacrosse Association all-star assault on Robert Louis Stevenson High in Pebble Beach yesterday after helping Novato's Church of the Latter Day Saints beat the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, 9-2 Saturday.

In another NCLA game Saturday, the Parks and Recreation Department of Novato crushed Corte Madera 17-7 behind eight goals by Dick Tetu.

Roe scored a pair of goals and teammate Dan Daly had four in the win over San Rafael, but Roe came back yesterday to score six times as the Northern California All-Stars dumped Stevenson, 12-1 in an exhibition game.

Tetu had two goals for the all-stars and Dave Caldwell, Roe's teammate on the Novato team, scored once.

Hillman Sparks Army All Stars

LONDON, Ky. (UPI) —Darrell Hillman sank a basket in the last six seconds Sunday night to give the armed forces all-stars, defending champions in the AAU for the past two years, a 79-77 win over the Pomperly Chiefs of Lake Charles, La., in the National AAU quarterfinals.

In earlier quarterfinals play Sunday, host Marathon Oil of Lexington, Ky., swamped Meisenbach Insurance of Seattle, Wash., 88-73; the Southeastern All-Stars edged Sanders Stone Insurance of Dayton, Ohio 87-86, and the U. S. Caps of Cincinnati, Ohio, defeated Howard Payne College of Texas 76-67.

Monday's semifinals will pit the Armed Forces against the Southeastern All-Stars, and the U. S. Caps against Marathon Oil.

Hillman took game scoring honors with 19 points for the All-Stars.

Friend Booked In Burglary Of Video Set

A 25-year-old San Rafael man arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglarizing the home of a friend was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fairfax police arrested Thomas Howard Boyd, 25, of 9 Taylor Street, San Rafael, on suspicion of stealing a television set from the home of Anthony Honeycutt, 434 Scenic Road.

Honeycutt told police he left his home at 1:30 p.m. last Monday with Boyd. They separated and when he returned at 4:30 p.m., the television set was missing, police said.

It was recovered two days later from a San Rafael pawn shop where Boyd allegedly pawned it, according to police.

Boyd was booked into Marin County Jail in lieu of $700 bail.

Foot Broken As Car, Cycle Hit

John David Haig, 15, of 785 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, suffered body scrapes and a fractured right foot in a car-motorcycle collision at 6:46 p.m. yesterday at Center Road and Buena Vista, Novato.

Novato police said Haig's motorcycle and a car driven by Timothy Peter Lepinski, 17, of 34 Sunnyside Road, Novato, both westbound on Center Road, collided as Lepinski slowed to make a left turn.

Haig was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Supervisors Will Study Health Plan

A sweeping reorganization plan that would combine Marin County's health and medical services into one department will be considered tomorrow by the board of supervisors.

The proposal, recommended by the county administrator's office, would merge the department of public health, community mental health services, county service officer, conservatorships, coroner, public administrator, guardian and comprehensive health planning.

Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, now head of mental health services, medical director and coroner-public administration, would head the new agency, to be called the department of health care services.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella has said the merger has nothing to do with a recommendation that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, be fired for poor handling of her department.

In other business at its all-day meeting which will begin at 9 a.m., the board is to consider a request from the grand jury to set four local election dates per year to cut costs.

The board will spend its first 90 minutes in a meeting with the Marin Aviation Commission to discuss operations at Gnos Field in Novato, the county airport.

Attorney Vernon W. Humber of Kentfield is scheduled to appear before the board to appeal to the county to prepare an adequate disaster plan.

The state of disaster planning in Marin was pointed up recently in a series of articles in the Independent-Journal.

Other items on the supervisors' agenda include:

MOTORCYCLES — County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will present a revised ordinance that would ban motorcycle riding on any property other than public roads and areas designated for motorcycle use.

ABATEMENT — Marine Inspector Richard L. Larson will ask for abatement of an old storage building owned by Tom E. Nowell Jr. in Richardson Bay. Larson said old cars and rubbish, which have accumulated in the building, are a hazard.

FERRY TERMINAL — Supervisor Michael Wornum will ask the board to make an official choice on the two alternate sites for the Central Marin ferry terminal. Wornum recommends the Larkspur site at Hutchinson's Quarry over the Dominic Muzzi property in the Corte Madera marshlands.

STRAWBERRY — Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will ask colleagues to lower the density of Paul J. Broman's Strawberry Cove Apartments, which are planned along Seminary Drive. The county last year approved 102 units for Broman. Strawberry Recreation District is protesting the development as too dense.

Police said Douglas shouted obscenities at the officers and refused to leave the area. When the patrolmen told Douglas they would have to issue citations for illegal parking and no valid driver's license, they reported, the man locked his door and rolled up his window.

Police said Douglas gunned the car forward as the foot patrolmen were standing in front of it, forcing them to jump away and struck another policeman, Lt. William Frost, in the leg with the vehicle.

Douglas agreed to move onto El Portal and stop there to talk with officers, according to police, but instead raced down Park Street, striking a patrol unit which attempted to stop him, then headed north on Bridgeway through heavy vehicle and pedestrian traffic. He was halted north of Bay Street after running a red light and a stop sign.

Douglas was freed on $1,250 bail to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Flood Control Plan To Be Discussed

The recently completed master plan for flood control in Corte Madera will be discussed tonight at o'clock by the town's planning commission.

The computerized study of the town's flood-prone areas was authorized by the town council last year at a cost of more than $20,000. It was completed last month.

Princeton Loses Its President

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—Dr. Robert F. Goheen, only 35 when he was named president of Princeton University in 1956, plans to step down because he thinks no one should lead a university more than 15 years. He announced Thursday his resignation effective in June, 1972.

"I want to make clear that I have enjoyed being the president of Princeton and that I'm not laying down the office because of any sense of frustration, anger, pressure disillusionment or anything like that," he said.

"It's simply that I feel I have given Princeton what I have to give, that it deserves and will profit from fresh leadership to take it through the next 10 or 15 years," he said.

Theft Of Two Boats Reported

Two small boats were stolen Thursday or Friday from a dock at 260 Canal Street, according to San Rafael police.

Police said a $200 rowboat belonging to Richard P. Vidor of 735 Francisco Boulevard, Apt. 28, was taken between 3 p.m. Thursday and 2:15 p.m. Friday.

A four-foot Guppi sailboat valued at $150 and belonging to James E. Gilliam of 260 Canal Street, Apt. 225, disappeared from its dock between 8:30 a.m. Thursday and 2 p.m. Friday, police said.

Bridge Directors Stress Second Deck But No Cars

The Golden Gate Bridge District cried "never" Saturday, to even the thought that autos might someday traverse a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Bridge directors stressed that they will tell the California Legislature they want to build a "transit deck." But, they insisted that San Franciscans be reassured the deck could not be used to pour more autos into their city.

The discussion arose at a special bridge board session Saturday at which directors reviewed 40 pages of galley proofs for a report they must submit to the Legislature this week.

The state lawmakers charged the bridge district in 1969 with creating a long range transit plan for the Golden Gate Corridor — together with a recommendation as to how the district should be abolished with the payment of the last of the district's bond obligations three months hence.

The directors on Saturday also insisted that the report stress that the district is the only proper authority for a transit for Marin and the Golden Gate Corridor.

They declared that the district is the only agency that could provide the essential home rule, with the plans, know-how and financial ability to do the job.

Directors got their first look at the draft report Friday, then held the special meeting to strengthen some paragraphs and strike out the forbidden phrase "second deck" wherever it appeared.

Most vocal editors of the report were Michael Wornum of Marin County, L. E. Castner of Sonoma County and Robert E. Gonzales of San Francisco.

Wornum and fellow Marinite Dean M. Meyer asked great pains be taken to make the Legislature realize the district wants only a two-lane deck for buses or some form of fixed guideway transit.

Wornum warned, however, that "the rail deck on the Bay Bridge got paved over."

Gonzales objected "on a philosophical basis" to even mentioning bus use of the proposed lower deck. "I'm against any type of transit deck that includes buses. If this body goes out of business, nothing is going to stop anybody else from converting the bus lanes for cars," Gonzales declared.

After two and one half hours of reviewing the proofs, the directors approved the report, on condition that the district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, help the staff rewrite a few more paragraphs.

If printing is finished in time, the illustrated report outlining the district history, transit plans and arguments for staying in business, will be delivered to the Legislature Friday.

Hemingway's Fishing Teacher Nears 101 Mark

PETOSKEY, Mich. (UPI)—Joe Bacon, who taught Ernest Hemingway how to fish when the author was a youngster, will be 101 years old Wednesday.

Bacon is a resident of a convalescent home here. He is confined to a wheelchair because of a hip he broke on his 98th birthday. He is partially blind.

Bacon's father sold property on Walloon Lake adjoining his farm to Hemingway's father and Joe taught young Ernest the rudiments of fishing and hunting.

"He (Hemingway) grew up to be quite a boulder," Bacon said.

Fortune Winner Doesn't Want Money's Fruits

FRESNO (UPI)—Akira Matsubara says he doesn't want the $120,000 he won in the Irish Sweepstakes to change anything.

"I've got to cool off and start thinking," the 43-year-old office manager of a Fresno tree nursery said Saturday after being informed he was one of 13 top prize winners throughout the world.

"I'm just dumfounded," he said.

Matsubara owes his newly acquired riches to a $3 ticket purchased from a friend and a 30-to-1 longshot named Double Cream, winner of the Lincoln Handicap at Doncaster, England.

"I don't want this to change anything," Matsubara said. "I want it just like it is."

More Talks Set On Apartments

The Larkspur Planning Commission will continue discussion of a proposed 186-unit apartment development near Corte Madera Creek tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

The proposal, considered by the commission last Tuesday, has been protested by Boardwalk 1 residents, who charge the Ross Valley Sanitary District will not be able to handle the additional waste.

They further claim the project, to be located on Larkspur Plaza Road, would add unwanted cars to congested city streets and require more city services than its tax revenues would support.

Terra Linda Rec Meeting Dates Set

The next three meetings of the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District board will be April 8, May 13 and June 10, Gen. Mgr. Zonwice Mulhaupt has announced.

The board usually meets on the second Wednesday of each month.
